SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 10TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1911.

SHIEK MABORIK

versus

JOSEPH MOORE.

The plaintiff claims an injunction to restrain the sale at execution by the defendant of part of the southern back quarter of lot number 8, situate in that part of New Amsterdam called Smyth Town as advertised in the "Official Gazette" under date 9th, 16th and 23rd of April, 1910.

Counsel for defendant, in his statement of defence, raised the point that even if all the facts as set out in statement of claim were correct that the plaintiff had no title to the land in question and therefore could not bring this action.

Counsel for plaintiff admitted that defendant had no title to the land in question but contended that although he had no title he had an equitable remedy and that equitable remedy was by way of opposition.

I am of opinion that the plaintiff has no right to oppose the sale at execution, the title still being in the judgment-debtor.

Judgment for defendant with costs.

LIONEL E. HAWTAYNE, actg. J.

THIS 18TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

HARDIAL

versus

EVAN WONG.

The plaintiff claims from the defendant the sum of $200 as damages for that during the months of March, 1909, and April, 1909, the defendant by his agent and servant wrongfully trespassed upon the land lawfully occupied and cultivated by the plaintiff, and unlawfully planted rubber trees on the same and during the said time prevented the plaintiff from going on the said land.

I am satisfied from the evidence that the defendant leased one acre of land to the plaintiff on condition that the plaintiff would clear the land and plant provisions for his own benefit, and that defendant should have the right to plant rubber trees on the same land for his own benefit. The plaintiff cleared the land and planted his provisions. I am not satisfied from the evidence that the defendant or his agent prevented the plaintiff from going on the said land during the months of March, 1909, and April, 1909.

Judgment for defendant with costs.

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

THIS 22ND DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

In re THE ESTATE OF J. GONSALVES, DECEASED.

This is an application under the Administration Ordinance, 1887, for the decision of certain questions which have arisen in the administration of the estate of one J. Gonsalves by the executor of his will.

The first question is whether the testator dealt with the whole of the common property of himself and his wife or with his own half only.

The testator by his will after directing payment of his debts and funeral expenses and giving two small legacies states:—"I give and bequeath to my wife" (naming her) "to whom I am married in community of property . . . one-half share of my personal property of whatever property I may die possessed of whether movable or immovable and of whatever nature or kind soever and wheresoever situate or whether the same be in possession, reversion, remainder or expectancy nothing excepted" and then gives "the remainder half" to his sister and niece (naming them) share and share alike.

We think the testator dealt with his own half only of the common property. This construction is in accord with the rule that a testator in the absence of evidence to the contrary is presumed to dispose of his own property only. Also it alone gives a reasonable meaning to the residuary clause. For if in this case the testator be held to have dealt with the whole of the common property, then the bequest to his widow of one-half thereof would be useless, as the law would give her that without any testamentary provision to that effect made by him. On the other hand if he be deemed to have dealt with his own share only the provision quoted is effective, as it preserves to her the same interest in his property which (as the testator left no issue) she would have possessed had he died intestate. (Ord. 9 of 1909, sect. 3.) This construction also best suits the language used by the testator, who, after reciting his marriage in community of property, proceeds to dispose of his personal property: a phrase which cannot be taken to have been used in the English law sense as meaning property other than real, since the following words speak of it as including immovable as well as movable property, and which can therefore, in our opinion, mean only property which was his own.

The conclusion arrived at is strengthened by the fact that the testator's wife made her will on the same day his was made, one-half of the residue of her "personal property" being given to her husband and the other to her two sisters. Thus the scheme, so to speak, of the two wills is the same and by them the whole of the common property is disposed of. It was urged that the Court could not regard the provisions of Mrs. Gonsalves' will, but as it is stated to have been made at the testator's request and signed at the same time as his, we think her will may be regarded as a material fact known to the testator with reference to which he used the words written in his will. (Judgment of Blackburn, J., in Allgood v Blake, L.R. 8 Ex. at p. 163.)

The second question for decision is whether the executor is entitled to charge commission on the value of properties which have not been sold or realised by him or at all.

The question must be answered in the negative, such property not being money received by the executor. (Ord. 9 of 1909, sect. 29: Franco v. Franco, G.J. 16th May, 1905: Sagar et al v. Hookumchand, L.J., 25th November, 1905: In re Carreiro, Insolv., 27th June, 1906.)

The third question is, whether (assuming the testator dealt with his half only of the common property) the executor is entitled to commission on $1,707.72 received by the executor, which formed part of the common estate, and is made up of $1,600 on deposit in the Colonial Bank at the date of the testator's death, of $32 interest thereon and $75.72 book and other debts owing at that date and collected by the executor. No debts appear to have been owing by the common estate and therefore the sum of $1,707.72, or the deposit and debts representing the same, would be equally divisible between the testator's estate and his widow, and the executor could, in our opinion, at most claim commission on one half of that sum. No question is raised as to his right to commission on the whole of that half and it is therefore unnecessary to consider that matter.

The fourth question is, at what rate the executor is entitled to charge commission. This question is not, strictly speaking, one which comes within the Administration Ordinance, 1887, but as it is one which has to be answered by the Court under Ordinance 9 of 1909, section 29, the Court will, to save the expense of a separate application, now deal with it. The testator's estate did not exceed $10,000 in value [Ord. 9 of 1909, sect. 29 (1) (a)] being, as appears from the executor's account, under $3,000; nor is the proviso to the section just cited applicable in this case. Hence the executor cannot at most be allowed more than ten per cent. on the amount of his "receipts." In view of the provision in section 29 (2) that the term "receipts" shall include "interest" and therefore interest on money on deposit receipt and that such money is not money which a testator can at any time without notice use, we think the later phrase in that sub-section "money in the hands of the deceased at the time of his death" does not include money on deposit at a Bank, as distinct from a balance on current account the decisions as to the meaning of "money in hand" in the case of bequests (Parker v. Marchant, 12 L.J. Ch. 385), not governing the construction of this statute. Therefore the same rate must be allowed on all the amounts already specified. We fix the rate at ten per cent.

The last question asked was not argued, counsel for the executor conceding that the charges therein mentioned other than a small one for an account book which charge he abandoned, could not be sustained in view of previous decisions.

The taxed costs of both parties, which, according to the Rules of Court, are taxed on one basis only and do not include retainers, may, we think, properly be borne by the testator's estate.

Government Notices.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,

144.

31st March, 1911.

THE following Bill, which it is proposed to introduce into the Court of Policy, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

THE MINING (DUTY ON PROFITS) BILL. 1911.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM.

The object of this Bill is to enable persons and companies who obtain gold by milling to pay a duty of five per cent. on the profits made on such milling, instead of the royalty on all gold won. It is considered that as the initial expenses of preparing the mine for working and installing machinery and plant for milling is much greater than that for other methods of gold extraction, it is fairer to charge a duty on the profit made, than to require payment of royalty on all gold won irrespective of the cost of obtaining it, as is done in other kinds of gold mining operations where the initial cost is much smaller.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE PAYMENT OF A DUTY ON THE PROFITS OF GOLD MINING."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana, with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows :—

Duty to be paid on profits of gold mining instead of royalty.

1. Every holder of a mining claim or concession on which gold is obtained by crushing ore with machinery consisting of a mill containing at least ten stamps or other mill equivalent to a battery of ten stamps, shall pay a duty of five per centum on the annual amount of all profits made from or in respect of the exercise of the rights conferred by such mining claim or concession, in lieu of royalty, and no holder of any such mining claim or concession as aforesaid shall be required to pay any royalty under the Mining Ordinance, 1903.

Method of
profits.

2. In estimating the said profits no sum shall be set aside or deducted on account of any capital employed in the improvement of any premises occupied for the purpose of exercising the rights granted by any mining claim or concession ; or on account of any loss not connected with the trade or business carried on in the exercise of such rights ; or for any sums employed or intended to be employed as capital in such trade or business or on account of any capital withdrawn therefrom ; or on account of any interest which might have been made on such sums if laid out at interest ; or any debts except bad debts proved to be such to the satisfaction of the Commissioner ; or for any sum recoverable under an insurance or contract of indemnity, or for any expenses whatever not exclusively laid out for the purpose of the industrial or trading concern as distinct from domestic or private purposes.

3. Every holder of a mining claim or concession shall on or before the first day of June in each year, prepare and deliver to the Commissioner a true and correct statement of the profits made as aforesaid during the twelve months ending on the thirty-first day of December last preceding. Such statement shall be delivered before any appropriation or distribution is made or any dividend is declared payable in respect of any such profits. The first statement shall be delivered on or before the first day of June, 1912, and the profits shall be calculated from the date of the commencement of this Ordinance.

Annual statement of profits to be delivered to Commissioner.

4. Any person acting for the time being as attorney or agent in the Colony of any holder of a mining claim or concession shall be answerable for doing all such things as are required by this Ordinance to be done by such holder, for the assessing or computing the duties in respect of profits payable by such holder under the provisions of this Ordinance.

Liability of agent to deliver statement of profits.

5. Any person who is required by this Ordinance to deliver any statement under section three as aforesaid who neglects to deliver the same as directed by this Ordinance, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding two hundred and forty dollars and shall be liable in addition to pay treble the amount of any duty payable under this Ordinance in respect of the profits required to be included in such statement.

Penalty on party to deliver statement of profits.

6. The Commissioner shall assess in each case the amount of duty with which every holder of a mining claim or concession shall be charged in respect of profits as in this Ordinance provided, and such assessment shall, subject to appeal as hereinafter provided, be final and conclusive.

Commissioner to assess duty.

7. It shall be lawful for the Commissioner to require any person answerable under this Ordinance for delivering a statement of profits to appear and verify the same, and to summon any other person whom he shall think able to give information respecting any such statements of profits.

Commissioner may require verification of statement of profits.

Power to compel attendance of
witnesses.

8. The Commissioner acting under this Ordinance shall have the same powers as to summoning witnesses and compelling their attendance, as to employing Bailiffs, Police or Rural Constables, as to examination of witnesses and as to adjournments, as are for the time being vested in a Magistrate in the exercise of his jurisdiction under the Petty Debts Recovery Ordinance, 1893.

Expenses of witnesses.

9. All persons summoned to attend and give evidence or to produce documents shall be entitled to such expenses as are allowed to witnesses who are summoned to attend the Supreme Court on a criminal trial, if the same are allowed by the Commissioner, but the Commissioner may disallow the whole or any part of such expenses if he thinks fit.

Fixing duty
when default made in delivering statement of
profits.

10. Where any person makes default in delivering a statement of profits as required by this Ordinance or if the Commissioner shall not be satisfied with such statement, he shall assess the duty to be charged in such sum as according to the best of his judgment ought to be charged by virtue of this Ordinance, and shall add thereto any costs which he may have incurred for the purpose of ascertaining such duty. The amount of duty and costs so found shall be deemed to be the assessment in every such case. Such assessment shall, subject to the appeal as hereinafter provided, be final and conclusive.

Notice to be
assessment.

11. As soon as the Commissioner shall have made an assessment he shall give notice in writing to the holder of the mining claim or concession or the agent or representative of such holder, who shall pay the amount of such assessment to the Receiver General.

Recovery of duty.

12. If at the expiration of six weeks after service of the notice of assessment as provided for in the preceding section, where no appeal is lodged, and at the expiration of fourteen days after the decision of the Court when an appeal has been lodged the amount of the assessment be not duly paid to the Receiver General, it shall be lawful for the Commissioner to sue for the same. In any proceeding for the recovery of any such amount a certificate signed by the Commissioner shall be conclusive evidence that such amount is due.

Appeal to Supreme Court.

13. If any person shall think himself aggrieved by any assessment under this Ordinance, it shall be lawful for him, within six weeks after service of the notice of assessment under section thirteen hereof, to appeal to the Supreme Court, and the Court in its limited jurisdiction shall have full jurisdiction to hear and determine all questions of fact and of law raised in the appeal, and the parties to any such proceeding may appeal from any decision of the Court in its limited jurisdiction, to the Full Court.

Procedure
on appeal.
No. 1 of 1903.

14. The practice and procedure in respect of such appeal shall be the same as that prescribed in the Mining Ordinance, 1903, with respect to appeals under the said Ordinance from the decision of the Commissioner or a warden.

15. All gold obtained on any mining claim or concession to which this Ordinance applies shall be conveyed from such claim or concession to Georgetown in the manner provided by the Mining Regulations for the time being in force with respect to the conveyance of gold.

Conveyance
of gold to Georgetown.

16. Any person who wilfully and with intent to defraud prepares, makes or delivers any false statement of profits required under this Ordinance, shall on summary conviction thereof be liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Penalty on making false
statement of
profits.

17. Every holder of a mining claim or concession or the agent or representative in the colony of such holder, shall, when called upon to do so by the Commissioner, furnish him with such returns and statistics or other particulars of the operations being carried on upon the said claim or concession and the results thereof in such form as the Commissioner may require, verifying the same if and when required to do so, by a statutory declaration of the truth and correctness thereof, and in default of so doing shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Statistical returns to be forwarded
when required.

Interpretation of terms.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

THIS 22ND DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

CONRAD, Plaintiff,

versus

MUDELLERYER, Defendant.

The plaintiff seeks to recover $8,500 as damages for non-delivery by the defendant of 11,200 lbs. of balata in accordance with two alleged contracts for the sale and delivery of 1,200 lbs. and 10,000 lbs., respectively.

It is not contested that neither the 11,200 lbs. of balata nor any part thereof were or was delivered, and the sole questions to be decided are: (1) did the defendant contract with the plaintiff for the sale and delivery of the 1,200 lbs. and 10,000 lbs. or either quantity and if he did (2) what are the damages to be awarded the plaintiff for the defendant's breaches of contract?

The plaintiff's account of the matter (as given in his evidence) is, that early in February, 1910, he verbally agreed with the defendant for the purchase at 48 cents a lb. of two lots of balata, one consisting of 1,100 lbs. and the other of 1,200 lbs. (more or less) in accordance with the usual understanding in such cases, viz., that the quantity actually delivered might, within reasonable limits, exceed or fall short of that contracted for: that on 16th February the defendant by letter asked a higher price (50 cents a lb.) for this balata, and on the same day he replied to that letter and on the following day, the 17th February, he and the defendant met, and it was agreed between them that the plaintiff should pay 48 cents a lb. for the lot of 1,100 lbs. and 50 cents a lb. for the lot of 1,200 lbs.: that at that meeting he asked the defendant whether he would have any more balata to sell, and the defendant said he would have about 10,000 lbs. coming down the next month and the month after: that he told the defendant he would have to cable to his friends in America and if the defendant would give him a couple of days to get a reply and they agreed to his price he would take it from the defendant at 50 cents a lb.: that the defendant agreed to this and that the delivery should be spread over the four months, March, April, May and June and that he was to let the defendant know when he cabled: that he cabled the same day and so informed the defendant by letter of that date: that he received a reply and by letter of the 19th February informed the defendant that he would take the 10,000 lbs. at 50 cents a lb. that none of the balata contracted for was ever delivered, through he more than once wrote to the defendant about it; and that the defendant having repudiated and failed to fulfil the contracts this action was brought.

On the other hand the defendant denies by his defence the making either contract, and he deposes that he did not go to the plaintiff's office or meet him on the 17th February, and made no contract with him for the supply of 10,000 lbs. of balata: that on the 21st February he received the plaintiff's two letters, one dated the 17th February and the other the 19th February, that he went to the plaintiff's office on the 21st after receipt of the letters, to find out what was meant by them and because money was owing to him for 1,291 lbs. balata delivered to the plaintiff that morning: that the plaintiff at that interview asked him to supply five tons of balata, and said he had booked him to furnish it, had made a contract to sell it outside the colony and would get into trouble if it were not obtained, that he refused to agree to supply five tons and told the plaintiff he had done a wrong thing which he ought not to have done without his (the defendant's) consent, and that if he (plaintiff) got into trouble that was his business; that he told the plaintiff he might get a small quantity of balata in the next month and would sell it at the market price to the plaintiff or any one who would buy; that the plaintiff gave him a cheque for the price of the balata delivered that morning and he gave a receipt and left.

Both plaintiff and defendant in their evidence say that only one interview took place between them in February, 1910, in connection with the alleged contract, and it is manifest from the foregoing that there is a direct conflict between their several statements as to (a) the date of that interview, and (b) what occurred thereat. In support of his version of the matter the plaintiff has called his office boy, who is admitted to have been present for part at any rate of the interview, and the defendant in corroboration of his account has brought forward his clerk whose presence however on the occasion is not admitted by the plaintiff. We do not think the evidence of these two gentlemen of any value in determining which of the two versions given the Court is correct. We proceed therefore to consider the effect of the other evidence.

The defendant undoubtedly received a cheque dated the 21st Feb. from the plaintiff and a receipt bearing the same date signed by the defendant has been put in. This is in our opinion of little value as evidence that the date of the parties meeting was the 21st as the defendant admits he frequently sent signed receipts by his clerk and the plaintiff states that this receipt as far as he can remember was produced by the defendant's clerk to whom the cheque was then given.

Prior to this disputed transaction the plaintiff and defendant (as admitted by both parties) had never entered into a contract for delivery by the latter of such a large quantity as five tons. The usual course of business was that the defendant, when balata had come down from the bush or was expected, would make a contract for the sale of that lot at a fixed price per lb., the estimated quantity being stated. It is urged that this renders it improbable that the alleged contract was made. But, in view of the evidence of Mr. Bugle and the plaintiff as to the usual price of balata in the local market in past years and up to March last year, it does not seem unlikely that the defendant would in February, 1910, have been glad to secure a firm offer for five tons at 50 cents a lb. to be delivered within four months, the quantity being undoubtedly obtainable by him within that time from the tracts of Crown land over which his licences extended, as is shown by his own evidence and that of an Officer of the Lands and Mines Department. The plaintiff's evidence that he telegraphed on the afternoon of the 17th February to Alden & Company, offering them five tons spread over four months, is corroborated by their letter of 13th May, and it is reasonable to suppose that the plaintiff would not have made that offer, had he not previously secured that quantity, and in view of the defendant's evidence that he had not previously been selling to the plaintiff all the balata obtained from the licensed lands, it is clear that without a specific contract the plaintiff could not be sure of getting five tons from the defendant. It is clearly proved that plaintiff wrote the defendant a letter dated 17th February, 1910, stating "I have cabled to New York your offer of say 10,000 lbs. more or less at 50 cents, and await reply" and "I have intimated it will be delivered in, say, four months beginning next month" and also another letter dated 19th February saying "last night I got a reply to my cable"—"please book the 10,000 lbs. (ten thousand pounds) (say 5 tons) more (or less) at fifty cents (50 cts.), per pound." The defendant's statement that he received both of these letters together on Monday, the 21st February, seems improbable, no reason being apparent for such a late delivery of the one dated the 17th February. We believe that letter was written and sent on the day it was dated, and these two letters support the plaintiff's version of the matter, they being such as would have been written if that version be correct. To these letters no written reply was sent, but on the 8th March, the plaintiff wrote another letter to the defendant asking to let him know how many bales and pounds of sheet balata would be ready by the 11th March, and saying "I have an enquiry for more balata and could take up to 40 tons now at the same figure of 50 cents per pound" "if you have not got as much can you say who might have"; and a reply to that letter on the same day was sent, not questioning the existence of any contract to supply balata at 50c. a lb., or asking the meaning of the plaintiff's letter but simply stating "I expect to receive some balata at the end of the week but I cannot say how much. I do not know any one who has any balata for sale." On the 15th March again two letters passed between the parties, the defendant stating he had "got about 1,600 lbs. balata ready for shipment" and asking "what mark to put on them" and the plaintiff saying to mark it A No. 8—and to send it to Thom and Cameron to go by their boat on the 21st. Again on the 29th March (the 1,600 lbs. not having been accepted by the plaintiff owing to sand being mixed with it) the plaintiff wrote, "I shall be glad to know when I may expect some balata in fulfilment of my 5 tons at 50 cts. bought from you" and after mentioning a small quantity still to be delivered under a previous contract at 48 cts. a lb. and referring to the sander lot and to another small quantity of 600 lbs. which defendant at one time had, the letter proceeds: "I am writing to the people in the States to-day and would like to know what to write. Two steamers have gone without any from me, though of course we have up to June to deliver still I'd like to get off as much as I can." To this a reply signed by the defendant was sent the same day, not in any way repudiating the contract but simply stating "I cannot say just "now when balata is expected and I am not feeling well at present." On the following day the plaintiff received a further letter dated 29th March signed by the defendant in these words:—"Let this finish all further parleying on your part. No written contract was ever made with you with respect to balata. I desire you not again to trouble me as I have no further business with you." To this repudiation of the existence (not of any but) of a written contract, the plaintiff replied the same day by letter stating he had agreed with his friends in the United States for the sale of 5 tons sheet balata to be delivered during March, April, May and June, and should hold the defendant to his contract whether verbal or otherwise. The plaintiff subsequently on the 18th and 25th April, and the 6th, 11th and 14th May, wrote to the defendant calling on him to deliver the balata, stating that the plaintiff's friends in the United States were pressing him to fulfil his sub-contract with them and that he should hold the defendant liable if he was unable to carry out the sub-contract, but to these letters the defendant made no reply. The tenor of the correspondence, in our opinion, supports the plaintiff's version of the matter. The defendant was, no doubt, in bad health and some of the four letters above mentioned were not written by him, but the evidence shows that the ones not so written were all written by persons carrying on his business, after consultation with him, and except the letter of the 8th March, appear to have been signed by him. The defendant, in his evidence, says the letter of the 15th March was sent, he having then decided to sell to the plaintiff the balata which he had originally said he would sell at market price to whoever would buy, but we think the letter does not support this, no question being asked therein as to the price to be given and the balata being spoken of as "ready for shipment," and the only enquiry is what mark is to be put on it. The fact that Captain Brickhill was in February, 1910, negotiating with the defendant for an option to purchase the defendant's licences is not of much weight as an indication that probably the defendant would not have made the contract sued on, as the option may well have included a provision binding Captain Brickhill to carry out existing contracts. On the whole we think the existence of a contract between the plaintiff and the defendant for the supply of 10,000 lbs. of sheet balata by the latter at 50 cents a lb. is established. In some of the correspondence the quantity is mentioned as being about "8 tons more or less," but the plaintiff in his letter of the 19th February specifically mentions 10,000 lbs. (treating it as equivalent to 5 tons) and in his statement of claim this contract is alleged to have been for 10,000 lbs. We think, therefore it cannot be held to have been a contract to deliver more than 10,000.

In addition to this contract the plaintiff avers that there was a separate and independent contract between him and the defendant for the delivery by the latter of 1,200 lbs. sheet balata in March, 1910, at 50 cents a lb. We are not satisfied that such contract was ever made. None of the correspondence, not even the letter of 16th Feb., 1910 mentioned in the claim specifically mentions a separate contract for 1,200 lbs. and the other evidence is too meagre to satisfactorily establish its existence. The alleged agreement to supply 1,200 lbs. is (as already said) stated to have been not part of a contract for 5 tons but a separate and independent contract. The fact that the plaintiff made a sub-contract for delivery of 5 tons (i.e., 10,000 lbs. + 1,200 lbs.) does not we think shew that the plaintiff had previously made the separate contract for 1,200 lbs. with the defendant, as the plaintiff had already a contract for a lot of balata, 1,100 lbs. or more which he expected would and which actually did exceed 1,200 lbs., and he may well have relied on that as well as on his contract for 10,000 lbs. to enable him to fulfil the sub-contract he was making, he (as he states in his evidence) having no other sub-contract at that time.

It was contended for the defendant that any contract by the plaintiff for the purchase of balata would be invalid, no one being authorised to purchase balata unless he holds a licence to purchase, no licence being obtainable save by the holder of a licence to obtain balata or the owner or occupier of land on which bullet trees are growing, or the duly authorised agent of such licence holder, owner or occupier, and the plaintiff having obtained his licence to purchase only as an authorised agent. This view is not in our opinion correct, neither Ord. 40 of 1903, section 4, nor C. L. Reg. 1910, R. 48, requires the holder of a licence to purchase balata to be the holder of a licence to obtain balata or the owner or occupier of lands on which bullet trees are growing or the agent of some such person, and so far as the evidence before us goes, a licence to purchase, if obtained on a document authorising the holder to be agent of any such person, does not prevent his purchasing on his own account, such document being required by the Authority issuing the licence rather as a guarantee of good faith, and the licence itself when issued by its terms, which are unrestricted, authorising the purchase of balata by the licence holder in any capacity.

The question what damages should be awarded remains for decision. The plaintiff in his statement of claim avers that the defendant was aware that he was purchasing for re-sale to his customers in the United States, that he sought to purchase balata in the local market to fulfil his sub-contract but failed to procure it at any price, and he claims as special damages the difference between the price (50 cts. a lb.) he agreed to pay the defendant and $1.14 which he alleges was the price in the United States in June last, and he further claims general damages. The plaintiff's oral evidence and his letters of the 17th and 19th February (which the defendant admits he received), show clearly that the defendant knew of the sub-contract entered into. The evidence as to there being in July last (up to which time as the plaintiff's letter of 29th March shows, delivery might be deferred) a local market for balata is conflicting. The plaintiff says he bought a small lot about half a ton in June, at 64 cents a lb., that he bought none in May, but tried in May and June to get some from Mr. Maurer's lands but he wanted 1.24 cents a lb. Mr. George Garnett states "generally there is balata in the local market." "About the time mentioned (March to June, 1910), a considerable quantity of balata was offered to a company of which I am chairman. I cannot say positively as to the price. I know some sales were made in July." It also appears from the defendant's evidence that he sold locally some balata in May and June last, and thinks he sold at 72 cents a lb., and that the biggest sale then made by him was about 3,000 or 4,000 lbs. On the other hand Mr. Bugle says he collects and sells balata, that there were no sellers after April, 1910, that he knows of no one who had any balata afterwards for "spot delivery," that he "could not have delivered in June, could not get any." This evidence taken altogether shows, in our opinion, that there was a local market for balata in June, 1910, but at a much higher price than ruled earlier in the year. It is, therefore, unnecessary to consider what would be the damages, in accordance with the rule laid down in Die Elvinger Actien Gesellschaft v. Armstrong, (L.R. 9 Q.B. 473), if there had been in June, no local market and the plaintiff had thereby been unable to fulfil his sub-contract, the measure of damages, as stated by Brett, M.R., in Grebert Borgnis v. Nugent (L.R. 15 Q.B.D. at p. 89), being under the circumstances, the difference between the market price in June and the contract price of 50 cts. a lb. In determining the market price in June, the price $1.24 per lb. asked by Maurer must be disregarded, that sum not being the price actually obtained in any transaction. We have then evidence that the plaintiff bought a small lot in June at 64 cents a lb., the defendant's evidence that he sold largely in that month balata in the condition in which it is usually sold at 72 cents a lb. and evidence by Mr. Bugle that he sold for delivery in September at 80 cents a lb. We think it may fairly be concluded that the price in the local market at that time was 72 cents a lb., the average of these figures. The plaintiff therefore is entitled to recover 22 cents a lb. on the 10,000 lbs. balata not delivered according to contract, amounting to $2,200 in all. The total amount of damages claimed by the writ of summons is $5,500, which in the statement of claim is divided into a claim of (a) $7,168 "as special damage, the difference between the price agreed on with the defendant" and "the price of balata in the open market at $1.14 per lb.," and (b) $1,332 as "general damages," the price $1.14 per lb. being stated in the statement of claim to be the price at which the purchasers from the plaintiff would have to purchase in open market in America. The total damage claimed being greater than $2,300 the plaintiff is not, in our opinion, debarred from recovering that amount by having claimed only $1,332 as general damages, and having failed to prove that the market in the United States and not the local market is the one in which the purchase would have to be made, and that $1.14 was not the market price in the local market in June last.

Judgment is therefore given in his favour for $2,200 and costs, the action in our opinion being properly brought in this jurisdiction.

LIONEL E. HAWTAYNE, Actg. J.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 22TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

WALTER BAGOT & Co.

versus

J. I. CHAPMAN.

The plaintiffs as auctioneers and agents seek to recover in this action the sum of $600 under a verbal agreement entered into on or about the 25th February, 1910, with the defendant whereby it was agreed that this sum should be paid to them as remuneration on the sale of Coeverden plantation for work and services to be rendered and performed in undertaking, advertising and offering for sale the said plantation which plantation they advertised on 26th February, 1910, and offered for sale at auction on 4th April, 1910, when the defendant withdrew the sale, but afterwards sold the same in June, 1910.

The defence is that the sale primarily being a sale at auction it was agreed that the sum of $600 was to be paid if the sale was effected at or before the date fixed for such sale at auction and as the property was not sold, due to the limit not having been reached, no commission was earned.

The evidence of the plaintiff Wight, who is now Bagot & Co., as to the agreement, is to the effect that after the death of Ord, who was defendant's partner, he was sent for by the defendant and told by him that the estate must be sold so long as he lost no money on it, and that he wanted at least what he had given or more for it. That defendant suggested the floating of a Company in which case he stated that he would be prepared to take a good number of shares provided the manager of the estate had also a monetary interest therein, and that he (plaintiff) undertook to endeavour to do this during the running of the advertisement. That in answer to the defendant he said his charge was 3 per cent. that defendant asked him to do it for a lump sum as he had had several business transactions with him, and named £100, that he plaintiff then asked £150 but on defendant offering £125 ($600) he accepted it as defendant said it must be sold.

On the other hand defendant says that he sent for plaintiff and asked him what was his commission to sell the estate at auction, and at that time he had not decided at what price he would sell. That he never said he would sell so long as he lost no money and that no limit was fixed, but that plaintiff knew what he had paid for the property. That he has no recollection of any allusion to floating a company. That in asking plaintiff what commission he would charge to sell the estate at auction, the plaintiff left it to him, and that he mentioned $600 which plaintiff accepted. The defendant, in cross-examination, says that when he gave the plaintiff Coeverden to sell he had in his mind $48,000 to $55,000 as a price plaintiff could sell at locally. Now Ord died on 13th February, the advertisement of sale is dated 26th February, and the witness Gordon says that soon after Ord's death defendant told him—as far as he can remember—that he would let the estate go for $45,000. So too the witness Woolford speaks of the defendant saying he wanted $45,000, when he suggested that he with plaintiff and others should form a syndicate, and purchase the estate, and that if this was done he (defendant) would allow a fairly substantial amount to remain in the estate. The plaintiff, also in cross-examination, says that during advertisement defendant told him that he would accept $45,000. This all points to the defendant being under a misapprehension when he says that at the time of the agreement he expected to get within the figures named by him. It is true Martin says that defendant put on paper the value of Coeverden at $50,000, but this was done when he knew Martin valued Land of Canaan at $30,000 and in comparison with that estate Coeverden was considered worth twice as much. Dr. Francisco also speaks to defendant telling him that he wanted $60,000, but this was in March, apparently after he realized that Land of Canaan might sell for $30,000. The plaintiff admits that defendant fixed no definite sum and that when he said he wanted at least or more than he gave, he expected him to get more. The plaintiff's statement as to defendant suggesting the flotation of a company and his willingness to take shares therein, is confirmed by Mr. Woolford who saw him about that time. As to the details in connection with the commission it was known to the defendant that the plaintiff had recently been paid three per cent. on the sale by him (for about $7,750) of a property belonging to the estate of the late Mr. Ord, and on being asked therefore his commission in the present case, it seems natural that he would charge in the first instance the same commission. It would appear that something must have been said or done which induced him to undertake the sale for $600, a sum less than half of what he would have received if his commission had been three per cent. on what defendant himself had paid for the property, viz., $11,000. It cannot be overlooked that defendant himself says that he had resolved to sell as he could not manage it without the assistance of some reliable planter who could put money in it and that he did not know of one. The Court thinks, therefore, that the account of the interview with regard to the agreement given by the plaintiff the more reasonable and probable one.

As a result of this interview there appeared an advertisement dated 26th February, 1910, in the local papers of the proposed sale on 4th April, signed by Steward Gardner, at that time a member of the plaintiff's firm. In this advertisement it is stated that private offers will be received up to date of sale. This advertisement the Court finds to have been drawn by plaintiff and defendant together. Plaintiff says he drew it. Defendant says his clerk Gordon and himself drew it, while Gordon says plaintiff and defendant did so. It is admitted that the acceptance of private offers was suggested by the defendant and this tends to show that defendant was as willing that the property should be disposed of privately as by auction.

There is evidence that plaintiff on two occasions hired a launch to take likely purchasers to view the property. Dr. Francisco speaks of Dr. de Freitas and himself going on one of these occasions. Plaintiff says that he submitted certain offers to defendant. This is denied and as the persons who are supposed to have made these offers are not called as witnesses this Court is not satisfied that such offers were submitted. The defendant says, however, that Crane, a would-be purchaser, told him he had been sent by plaintiff and Dr. Francisco says he went to defendant in consequence of the advertisement. It is clear from this and other evidence that plaintiff was active in endeavouring to sell the property.

The plaintiff says that he got from defendant the clearances 1908-9 but could not get—although he asked for them—the clearances of the next year, that is 1909. It is abundantly clear that what was given to plaintiff was the clearances for 1908 and 1909, and if he did not understand the figures nothing was easier than to have asked for an explanation. The Court does not believe that defendant wilfully deceived plaintiff in this matter.

We come now to the Martin incident. This gentleman, who owned the Land of Canaan, a property almost adjoining Coeverden, was in communication with a Mr. Smyth in England to sell that property to an English syndicate, and the plaintiff states that with Martin's consent he mentioned this fact to defendant, and said that if this went through they would likely purchase Coeverden, his plantation, and that at defendant's request he asked Martin to show defendant his letters. It would appear that plaintiff drafted for Martin his letters with reference to the matter. Plaintiff further says that about this time Martin brought him a cable whereupon he saw King with reference to Land of Canaan, and at same time proposed to him that Coeverden should be included in the purchase. That on same day he took Martin to King's office and left him there with Parnell to await King, and went himself to defendant and told him that the option of Land of Canaan had been transferred to a Mr. Clifford whose local representative was Mr. King, and that defendant remarked he did not believe it would come off as Martin asked an absurd price.

The defendant version of the story is that he went to Coeverden on the Tuesday or Wednesday after Ord's death and travelled with Martin, who showed him the correspondence—that plaintiff may have told him that King was looking after Martin's property for an English syndicate. In cross-examination defendant says that he cannot fix the date of interview with plaintiff about the sale of estate, but it was a day or two before advertisement (26th Feb.) he should say now about 20th Feb., but it was after his visit to Coeverden. That he cannot swear that he did not speak to plaintiff between Ord's death and his visit to the estate, and mention sale of Coeverden. That if he did it was not as auctioneer or agent and that he only went once during that week to Coeverden. On being shown exhibit "Q" which is a memorandum of 17th Feb. from Coeverden written at defendant's instruction saying he had gone to Coeverden on that morning and asking for Mr. Barclay's address as a likely purchaser, defendant admits that he spoke to plaintiff before that date (17th Feb.) and before he went to Coeverden and states that this letter satisfies him that he had spoken to plaintiff as to the sale before he saw the witness Martin. The witness Martin states that he showed his correspondence to defendant at plaintiff's request and that he remarked that nothing would come of it, and that after this on enquiry he would tell defendant how the sale of his place was progressing. That he received a cable on 3rd March (which is stamped locally as received on 2nd March) and that he came into town next day 4th March and took it to plaintiff. That this cable directed him to see Crown Solicitor, that plaintiff said he would see Mr. King—that he left and went to Mr. Schuler who saw the telegram and said that Mr. King had asked to send for him. That same day plaintiff took him to King's office when he met Parnell and plaintiff left him there to await King. That he showed defendant the cable and he said it looked as if it was going through and meant business. Mr. King denies that plaintiff ever spoke to him about Coeverden before defendant saw him and his clerk Souza says that Martin came alone to the office. The Court is satisfied that plaintiff is wrong when he says he spoke to King before defendant saw King and it follows that he could not at that time have mentioned the inclusion of Coeverden with Land of Canaan to King. On the evidence of Martin the Court is disposed to hold that plaintiff went with Martin to King's office and this is possible without Souza seeing him.

It may be observed that both plaintiff and Martin speak of seeing Parnell and not Souza. This finding in no way affects the evidence of Messrs. Farnum and Schuler as to their efforts to get Martin for King.

Defendant denies that he ever told plaintiff not to see King, and that King had advised him to withdraw sale and this Court is disposed to think that plaintiff may be mistaken in regard to these two statements, but defendant states that he had told King he would withdraw if he would pay $1,000 for an option, that he fixed $1,000 as he would have to pay plaintiff $600 as Coeverden was then in his hands for sale, that he never told plaintiff until 4th April—the day of sale—that he had seen King in connection with Coeverden, that plaintiff was to endeavour to sell locally, and that if sold in England he (defendant) would do it himself, that the first time he saw King with reference to Coeverden was on 16th or 17th March, when he suggested that he (King) should cable to Clifford who had taken an option for Martin's property, this he would not do but consented to defendant doing so at his own expense in his (King's) name, that defendant did this on 18th March, asking if an option was desired and stating price to be £13,500, and asking for reply about end of next week. That about 23rd March, he again discussed the option with King who said he would wire. As a result of this the telegram put in was sent. This shows that King cabled on that date to the effect that Clifford could have option for two months for $1,000 otherwise it would be "sale on 4th April." Defendant further says that some days after King informed him he was authorized to offer £50 which he refused but told King that if the property was not sold at auction on 4th April, he would be free to deal with him and then consider it. In cross-examination defendant says that he first thought of increasing to $60,000, which he regarded as a local figure, when he was satisfied that there were bona fide enquiries in England about local properties. That he admits no property sold locally like Coeverden ($64,000) and Land of Canaan ($39,000), taking into account relative value, that he might have heard from plaintiff what led him to go to King, and he cannot say it was not from plaintiff, that he was keeping plaintiff in the dark when he was dealing with King, that he did not sell at auction sale because of the negotiations pending with King and because he thought property of that sort had advanced considerably owing to the demand in England. Mr. King, in his evidence, says that he made a note to the effect that defendant would give him an answer as to the £50 option on 4th April. It is alleged by defendant that a week or two before 4th April, he told plaintiff that his limit was $60,000, while plaintiff says that he just heard of this sum from defendant when the bidding had reached $45,000. Defendant is unable to say what words he used, nor does he remember what plaintiff said in reply. The Court therefore cannot be satisfied that defendant's memory is not at fault.

As to the sale on 4th April, plaintiff says there was a large company and he read out the conditions of sale, that defendant then asked him to make it understood that cattle, picked coffee and cocoa, boats, and household furniture were not included in the sale, that defendant read these exceptions to him and that he stated them aloud, that the bidding started and was brisk up to $45,000 which Mr. Martin bid when defendant told him not to sell for that figure as he could do better, that defendant went out for a few minutes and on his return said that Mrs. Ord (the widow of his late partner) agreed with him, and to announce $60,000 as the limit, that he said surely you are not going to increase the limit you are not going to get it, that defendant said King had assured him he would, that he then announced defendant would take $60,000 a sum not previously mentioned to him and the auction was over.

The defendant says that he handed exhibit "B B" which is instructions to auctioneer to plaintiff either before or at the sale and that he read them out, that the limit $60,000 typed at bottom of exhibit was not read out and that his impression is that the highest bid was $45,000, that plaintiff never consulted him as to its acceptance, that he never left the auction room and never consulted Mrs. Ord and never then mentioned $60,000 to plaintiff and that he does not remember telling Martin on leaving the auction that his price was $60,000.

The evidence of Martin, plaintiff's witness, is to the effect that he bid up to $45,000 and was prepared to carry out the purchase on the conditions read out but his bid was not accepted, that plaintiff had a conversation with defendant who left and returned with Crane and again talked to plaintiff who said that he could not accept the bid, and as a much higher price was wanted it could not be sold, that he does not think plaintiff said the price wanted but that defendant told him $60,000 on leaving, that the instructions were read by plaintiff. The conditions of sale (Exhibit "H.") shows that the bidding started at $10,000 and stopped at $45,000, no doubt therefore that this was the highest bid. Martin confirms plaintiff as to his speaking to defendant and then leaving the room and on his return again speaking but the evidence does not show that defendant saw Mrs. Ord or that he mentioned Mr. King's name or that the sum of $60,000 was stated by plaintiff as the upset price. He, however, confirms the defendant as to plaintiff reading to the company the instructions, at the foot of which is written "Limit for the property sixty thousand dollars."

As to what took place on afternoon of 4th April, when plaintiff and defendant met near Tower Hotel, is also in conflict. In view of defendant's letter of 4th April, written after that meeting, the details thereof are of no importance. It is clear from this letter that defendant when he wrote "if the sale is not closed by to-morrow 5 p.m. please consider the property withdrawn as I will be making other arrangements" revoked the plaintiff's authority as from the 6th April. This the defendant could do at any time before a contract had been legally completed. Warlow v. Harrison, 29 L.T.Q.B., p. 16.

It is unnecessary to refer to the meeting at Mr. Dias's office on 6th April, as it is admitted that anything said on that occasion by plaintiff cannot be regarded as a waiver of commission.

Defendant adds that he accepted the option of Clifford made through King for £50 on Thursday, 7th April, that he went to England at end of May, and sold Coeverden to a company floated by Clifford for $64,800 that is £13,500 the price mentioned in his telegram of 18th March.

The evidence in this case has been long and as far as plaintiff and defendant are concerned contradictory, due in a great measure no doubt to their meeting so frequently and discussing the matter that after this lapse of time it is difficult to give the correct sequence of events but the Court has gone very fully into it in fairness to both parties. It cannot be lost sight of that when Ord became seriously ill defendant at once consulted plaintiff, first, as to the management, and then as to the sale of Coeverden and it is difficult to understand defendant's action in keeping plaintiff in the dark as to his interviews with Mr. King in connection with the matter, unless it was to make a convenience of him by testing the local market on 4th April, in order to see whether or not an option should be given to Clifford. He admits that one of his reasons for not selling at auction was because of the negotiations pending with King.

The Court finds that the agreement entered into by the defendant with the plaintiff was to sell Coeverden estate, either privately or at public auction, at a sum exceeding that for which he had purchased it from plaintiff as auctioneer, viz., $41,000, that during the running of the advertisement this limit was increased by defendant to $45,000 and that in the auction room on the day of auction sale it was further increased to $60,000. Whether or not plaintiff saw the limit written on the instructions handed to him is immaterial as he admits that defendant informed him it was $50,000 when the bid was $45,000 and it is shown that he admitted defendant's right to raise the limit by not accepting that bid and by informing the company present that a much higher price was wanted. The sale therefore was not withdrawn but it was not effected at auction due to the limit not having been reached.

The Court further finds that when plaintiff and defendant fixed 4th April for the auction sale, the latter did not contemplate at that time that the plaintiff, if no sale was effected on that day, should cease to have the sale of the estate, but that in consequence of information subsequently received he raised the limit to $60,000 and on the 4th April by letter cancelled the agency as from 6th April.

It further finds that at the time when plaintiff asked Martin to show the correspondence relating to Land of Canaan to defendant, the defendant had asked him to undertake the sale of Coeverden, whether the remuneration had then been fixed or not, would not affect his agency. In the absence of a special agreement, plaintiff would have been entitled to reasonable remuneration for his services (Cockburn, C.J., in Clark & Anor. v. Smythies, 2, F. & F., p. 86.) It would seem that defendant did not think that anything would come of this correspondence, but it would appear that when Martin showed him the telegram asking for an option on Land of Canaan, and the plaintiff on 4th March, advised him to see Mr. King, he began to view the possibilities more seriously with the result that he saw Mr. King on 17th or 18th March and obtained his permission to telegraph an option to Clifford for Coeverden. He admits that what plaintiff told him might have led him to go to King and that he cannot say it was not from plaintiff that he heard what made him go to King. The question this Court has to ask itself is, was the sale brought about by the act or intervention of the plaintiff? If this is so, he is entitled to his commission although the actual sale was not effected by him. Green v. Bartlett, 14, C.B., 681.

The Court is satisfied that this question must be answered in the affirmative and this being so plaintiff is entitled to his commission.

The only point which remains for consideration is, was the plaintiff Wight a licensed auctioneer when he acted as such? Counsel for the defendant states that he waives this point as he desires this action to be determined on its merits. Counsel for the plaintiff submits that whether licensed or not, it cannot affect his right to recover commission and this contention seems to be borne out by the authorities. (See dictum of Bowen, L.J., in Melliss v. Shirley, Local Board, 16, Q.B.D. p. 454.) Judgment for the plaintiff for $600 and costs.

versus

HALL.

In this action the plaintiff claims that the defendant be ordered to advertise and pass transport to him of the west half of lot No. 34, Bagotville village, West Bank, and in the alternative be ordered to refund the sum of $59 74 paid by him on account of the purchase money thereof and damages $50.

The defendant has not appeared to the writ of summons and the requisite certificate of non-appearance has been duly filed.

The evidence shows that defendant agreed to sell this lot to plaintiff for $85 and that he paid her on account $45 on 10th August, 1909, that the receipt was written and witnessed by one George Husbands, that he as agent for defendant promised possession at the end of that month. This receipt shows that plaintiff was to have one year to pay the balance of $40. It would seem that plaintiff then went to the goldfields asking one McDonald to pay defendant any money that she might ask for on account of the balance and on his return in June, 1910, he offered her $25 and requested transport of the lot but that up to the present time it has not been obtained. During his absence $3 50 was advanced to advertise transport. This was handed to Husbands who paid for advertisement. He appears to have given incorrect instructions both as to the description of the property and name of person in whose favour transport was to be passed. It would seem that he also received certain other money amounting to $6 48 but on the evidence adduced this Court cannot hold that this latter sum was paid to him as defendant's agent, and therefore it cannot be taken into account. It seems however most improper that this Husbands posing as clerk to a Barrister (Mr. A. B. Brown), should be permitted to impose on the ignorant and foolish.

The title of the defendant to lot 34, is not proved and therefore the return of the money advanced must be ordered.

Judgment for plaintiff for $48 50 and costs.

Proof of service.

40. The service of a judgment summons when made out of the jurisdiction of the Court issuing the summons, may be proved by affidavit duly stamped.

(1.) The party alleging himself to be entitled to enforce the judgment or order may apply on affidavit to the Magistrate for leave to issue the necessary process accordingly. The Magistrate may, if satisfied that the party so applying is entitled to issue such process, make an order to that effect, or may order that any issue or question necessary to determine the rights of the parties shall be tried in the ordinary way in which any question in an action may be tried. In either case the Magistrate may impose such terms as to costs or otherwise as shall be just.

(2.) The party liable to the proceedings shall not be proceeded against by way of execution without a plaint or summons upon the judgment, the proceedings in which shall be the same as in ordinary cases. When a judgment has been given against a person deceased, his executors or administrators may in the same manner be sued upon the judgment.

(3.) Any order made under this rule ex parte shall be drawn up and served as an ordinary summons is now served, on the person to be affected thereby and proceedings thereon shall not issue until fourteen days at least have elapsed after the service of the order. THE following Bill, which it is proposed to introduce into the Court of Policy, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM.

The amendments are suggested principally with a view to having the present Customs practice simplified in some directions, and rendered more complete in others.

The reasons for suggesting the principal alterations are briefly as follows :—

Section 1 of Bill.—At present the law is silent on the point of payment and it is advisable to have the matter made clear.

Section 2 of Bill.—Alteration suggested in the interests of the revenue.

Section 3 of Bill.—The alteration is desirable so that the date of entry shall govern the time of importation for purposes of assessing duty.

Section 4 of Bill.—The present section 44 permits the agent of the owner of the steamship to make report of the ship. The law has never been carried out in this respect, and a junior clerk of the ship's agent has been the person who has generally declared to the accuracy of the inward reports.

The proper reporting of a ship with a general import cargo is a matter of considerable revenue importance, and it is very desirable that it should be made by the Master or some person authorised by him.

Section 5 of Bill.—For purposes of account it is better to have different forms upon which to enter (a.) Goods for home use on importation and (b.) Goods ex-warehouse.

Section 6 of Bill.—The section relates to entries for goods free of duty, and that being so there is no need to transmit them to the Receiver General for notation.

Section 7 of Bill.—(a.) Goods may be sold under the authority of sections 63, 84 and 148 of the Customs Ordinance. The surplus proceeds of sale under section 63 may be returned to the persons entitled thereto within two years from the time of the sale, under section 84 they may be returned within one year, whilst under section 148 no limit of time is fixed for the return of any surplus proceeds. It is with a view to obtaining uniformity in this matter that the alteration from two years to one year is suggested.

(b.) The proviso is suggested with a view to circumvent persons who import goods subject to ad valorem duty, and who fail to make entry at the Customs in the hope of making a cheap purchase at the Customs sale and so save a certain amount of duty.

Section 8 of Bill.—At present section 69 of the Customs Ordinance does not authorise the removal of goods to New Amsterdam from Georgetown without first warehousing at the latter port.

The alterations in this paragraph are necessary in order to legalise and regulate such removals.

Section 9 of Bill.—Section 47 of the Spirits Ordinance limits the period of warehousing to three years and the Customs Ordinance fixes the period at one year.

The alteration to two years is suggested with a view to having the revenue practice in the Customs and Excise departments assimilated. The Spirits Ordinance is to be similarly amended.

Section 10 of Bill.—Port, Sherry, and similar heavy wines usually contain more than 33 per cent. of proof spirit, and in a climate such as this it might be found necessary to fortify such wines in which case the present restriction of 33 per cent. would prevent proper fortification.

Section 11 of Bill.—The alterations suggested in section 89 of the Ordinance are for the purpose of bringing it into alignment with the recommendation made for the amendment of section 51 (sub-section 4) as per section 5 of the Bill.

Section 12 of Bill.—The alteration is required because the privilege is not confined to agents of steamships as may be seen by reference to section 140.

Section 13 of Bill.—The existing section 103 has been amplified considerably in order to enable the department to have proper jurisdiction over the times and places for the shipment of goods for exportation in respect of which bond has been given by the exporters.

Section 14 of Bill.—It is desirable as far as possible to have uniformity in the revenue practice in respect to dutiable goods, and section 106 has been re-drafted so that the legal quantities of spirits for exportation may correspond to the quantities allowed to be admitted to entry on importation and also to conform to the law regarding the legal size of packages operated upon in warehouse.

Section 85 provides that such goods when re-packed in warehouse for exportation or for removal to another warehouse are not to be put into less packages than is required by law on the importation of such goods.

Section 18 of Bill.—The suggested section is one of several provisions that was recommended as a model for Colonial legislation by a Committee appointed to enquire into the compilation of import and export statistics in the Colonies in 1891.

At present all goods whether dutiable or not have to be entered prior to the clearance of the ship in which the goods are exported. As no revenue danger arises with respect to the exportation of the goods for which no bond is required it serves no useful purpose to compel entry prior to shipment and in practice it has been found that the delay allowed by the Imperial practice has been beneficial to the proper compilation of statistics, for prior to its adoption in the United Kingdom exporters frequently entered their merchandise outwards in a haphazard manner by fictitious descriptions and at mere estimated values in order to comply with official requirements, which in the absence of advices they could not otherwise satisfy.

Section 19 of Bill.—It is very desirable that the Customs Department should possess some power to influence the owner of short-shipped dutiable goods to have them re-entered for export or re-warehoused within a reasonable time.

Section 20 of Bill.—If the new section contained in section 18 of this Bill is approved of the suggested alterations in this section become necessary as the specifications of exported goods not liable to duties of Customs or Excise need not under the suggested section be supplied before clearance of the vessel, therefore the ship's content need only contain an account of the bonded and drawback goods entered for exportation together with the list of surplus dutiable stores.

Sections 21-23 of the Bill.—Are new sections inserted for the purpose of obtaining some control over coasting craft. Coasting vessels not desirous of taking out transires in each trip may upon application receive a general transire for twelve months at a time, and the only labour involved more than at present will be the yearly application. Of course such general transire may be revoked if any revenue laws or regulations are broken. Ordinary transires will require to be taken out on each occasion when high duty goods are carried, but this course will involve no additional trouble as such ordinary transires will take the place of the present coasting slip.

Section 24 of Bill.—The amendment to section 148 is asked for because a considerable amount of the warehouse clerical officer's time is taken up sending out the quarterly accounts for rent for goods stored in the Colonial Bonded Warehouses and there is no reason why the rent should not be collected on the entry at the time the goods are cleared from warehouse, or when re-warehoused.

Section 25 of Bill.—The suggested proviso will be of use when small seizures are made in passenger's baggage or on the person of any member of a ship's crew, or in the crew's quarters or effects, as the time and trouble of prosecuting will be saved.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE
"CUSTOMS ORDINANCE, 1884."

(2.) Provided that as respects the first levying or repealing of any duty of Customs the time at which the importation of any goods shall be deemed to have had effect shall be the time at which the entry of the goods under the Customs Ordinance is delivered instead of the time mentioned in the preceding sub-section.

156.

7th April, 1911.

THE following Bill, which it is proposed to introduce into the Court of Policy, is hereby published for general information.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

THE REVENUE DEFENCE FUND ORDINANCE, 1868 (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1911.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM.

The object of this Bill is to amend the Revenue Defence Fund Ordinance, 1868 (No. 4 of 1868) by enabling the Revenue Defence Fund to be applied to the payment of all expenses necessarily and properly incurred in the protection of the revenue. At present it can only be applied in the payment of costs of legal proceedings and providing legal assistance and advice, but there are many other expenses necessarily incurred in protecting the revenue, such for example as the expenses incurred in stamping out the bush rum traffic, which cannot be defrayed out of it, and this Bill will enable this to be done.

A BILL ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE "REVENUE DEFENCE FUND ORDINANCE, 1868."

BE it enacted by the Governor of British Guiana with the advice and consent of the Court of Policy thereof, as follows :—

Application of Revenue Defence
Fund.
No. 4 of 1868.

1. The Revenue Defence Fund (established under the Revenue Defence Fund Ordinance, 1868) under the order and direction of the Governor and at his discretion, shall be applied to the payment of all costs and expenses of whatsoever kind incurred in protecting the revenue, including the costs of legal proceedings, the providing of legal assistance and advice to all officers and servants of the Colonial Government engaged in the collection and protection of the revenue, the payment of rewards and all other costs and expenses which in the opinion of the Governor are properly incurred in the protection of the revenue ; and the Receiver General may from time to time, on the warrant of the Governor, pay such sums for the purposes aforesaid from and out of the said Fund as the Governor may direct, without further or other formality.

Repeal.

2. Section seven of the Revenue Defence Fund Ordinance, 1868, is hereby repealed.

Short title and Construction.

3. This Ordinance may be cited as the Revenue Defence Fund Ordinance, 1868, Amendment Ordinance, 1911, and shall be construed as one with the Revenue Defence Fund Ordinance, 1868.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

CRIMINAL JURISDICTION,

THIS 6TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

In re THOMAS KENNEDY.

It appears from the warrant produced that this prisoner was arrested on the warrant of a Justice of the Peace on a charge of a summary conviction offence. As pointed out in more than one case, Justices of the Peace, although authorised to remand prisoners legally brought before them on such a charge, have no power to issue a warrant of apprehension in cases of summary conviction offences, but only in cases of indictable offences (Ord. 10 of 1893, sect. 18). Hence the prisoner was not legally before the Justice and cannot be detained under the warrant produced.

HENRY A. BOVELL, O.J.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 1ST DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

YARD

versus

YEARWOOD.

This is an opposition action by which the plaintiff claims that defendant be restrained from selling at execution the west half of lots 143 and 144, part of Plantation Kitty, situate on the East Coast of Demerara, without excepting therefrom a certain building with a tank and a kitchen on the said lot the property of the plaintiffs.

It is claimed that this building with tank and kitchen are the property of the judgment debtor but on the evidence of the plaintiff and his witnesses, this Court is satisfied that they were purchased by the plaintiff. The evidence of Bishop (the judgment debtor) and the witness Mrs. Roberts is unsatisfactory and cannot be relied on.

It is clear that the buildings and tank are chattels and according to the decision in Bethlehem and another vs. Pestana (23.2.10), the plaintiff should have proceeded by way of interpleader. The solicitor for the defendant, however, asks that the present action be decided on its merits. Under these circumstances the opposition is held to be just, legal and well-founded and judgment is entered for the plaintiff with costs.

THIS 1ST DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

COONJEL

versus

DOOLAM.

Plaintiff claims that defendant be condemned to pass transport of the western portion of lot A, situate at Malgre Tout on west bank of Demerara River, measuring four roods and a half in length by three roods and eleven feet on the east and on the west two roods four feet.

It is admitted by Counsel on both sides that the only point is as to the defendant's ability to pass the said transport.

After consultation between Counsel it is agreed that defendant advertise and pass transport of the said land to the plaintiff and that plaintiff pay $200 to Mr. Evan Wong on account of a mortgage held by him against the whole of lot A. Mr. Abraham, solicitor for the plaintiff, undertaking that on this sum being so paid to Mr. Wong he will cancel the mortgage so far as it affects the portion to be transported to plaintiff. Such payment of $200 and passing of transport to be effected at one and the same time.

The Court orders accordingly and makes no order as to costs.

THIS 25TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

J. E. TAFARES

versus

B. B. HO-A-HING.

This is an action on a specially endorsed writ for the sum of $130 being money payable by the defendant to the plaintiff for work done and materials provided by the plaintiff for the defendant at his request at Georgetown, Demerara.

Counsel for the defendant contended that the document (a copy of the writ filed) served upon him did not comply with the Rules of Court, in that it purports to contain a statement of claim and therefore a pleading, and was not signed in compliance with Order 17, Rule 6.

The solicitor for the plaintiff contended (1) that the statement of claim on a specially endorsed writ was not a pleading and that Order 3, Rules 7, 8 and 10 applied.

(2.) That an affidavit of defence having been filed (not under protest) that a fresh step had been taken and therefore it was not competent for defendant to raise the objection.

Following the decision of Ho-a-Hing v. D'Andrade, 15th day of April, 1902, I hold that the special endorsement is not a pleading within the meaning of Order 17, Rule 6.

As regards the filing of an affidavit of defence (not under protest) being a fresh step and therefore depriving counsel from taking the objection. It was held in M. L. Ferreira v. M. Francisco, 30th May, 1903, that the filing of an affidavit by a defendant contesting claim must take place not later than noon of the day immediately preceding that fixed by the writ of summons for the appearance of the defendant, so that the filing of such affidavit cannot be an appearance by itself.

I therefore over-rule both objections. The solicitor for plaintiff admitted that the affidavit filed on behalf of the defendant discloses a good defence.

Leave to defend is granted.

LIONEL E. HAWTAYNE, actg. J.

SMART-DALGLEISH AND COMPANY,

versus

A. F. CHAPMAN.

This is a specially endorsed writ the plaintiff's claim being for the recovery of the possession of that portion of the plaintiff company's premises or store situate at lot 48, Water Street, Robbstown, which was let by the plaintiff company to the said defendant at an agreed monthly rental of $30.

Counsel for the defendant contended at the hearing that the plaintiff company could not bring his action in the form of a specially endorsed writ.

Order 4, rule 6 (E), deals with actions for the recovery of land by specially endorsed writ.

The plaintiff contended that premises would include the land and that the action was properly brought under Order 4, rule 6 (E).

I cannot agree with this contention the writ must be struck out with costs.

LIONEL E. HAWTAYNE, Acting J.

H. H. LAURENCE

versus

W. T. JOHNSON.

This is an application under Order 23, Rule 32, by the plaintiff for an order that a point of law raised by the plaintiff in paragraph 2 of his reply may be set down for argument and disposal forthwith, on the ground that the said point of law, if decided in favour of the plaintiff, will dispose of the whole action and obviate the expense of a trial with witnesses.

On the pleadings I am not satisfied that this action could be disposed of on the point of law raised without taking some evidence.

The application is therefore refused. Costs to be costs in cause.

LIONEL E. HAWTAYNE, Acting J.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

R. PATTERSON

DEMERARA ELECTRIC COMPANY, LIMITED.

The plaintiff alleges that on the night of the 15th August, 1910, he was lawfully driving his waggon on the public highway at High Street, Kingston, and that a tram-car, the property of the defendant Company, driven by one of the servants of the same Company in the usual course of the business of the Company, was so negligently, recklessly and unskillfully managed and driven by the said servant that the same struck the waggon of the plaintiff then lawfully on the said highway and destroyed the same and rendered it useless. That the said negligence, reckless and unskillful managing and driving consisted in driving the said car at an excessive speed having regard to the nature, condition and use of the highway and in not keeping a look-out or a proper look-out.

That the plaintiff, in consequence of the said striking of the waggon by the electric car, was thrown out and dragged and sustained severe injuries about his body and partial fracture of his left arm.

The plaintiff claims $500 damages. A waggon, $200; harness, $50; medical attendance, $40; medicines and medical appliances, $10-$300, and $200 for personal injuries, etc.

The defence is practically a denial of the allegations in the claim and alleges contributory negligence, particulars of which are that the plaintiff drove out of lot 58, High street, Kingston, at an excessive, dangerous and improper rate of speed and directly on the lines of the defendant's and without taking any or proper or sufficient care to ascertain whether or not the said tram-car or any tram-car of the defendant was approaching the portion of the said lines on which he drove and on which the damage complained of, if suffered, was suffered, or to keep clear of such tram-car.

The plaintiff states in his evidence that on the evening of the 15th August, 1910, he was at lot 58, High street, and as he was leaving the house he saw a tram-car going north in the direction of the Sea Wall. After that car had passed he got into his waggon the lights of which were alight and that his servant led the mule attached to the said waggon out of the gate on to the road and turned its head in a northerly direction, the said mule and waggon then being on the western side of the tram lines in High street. His servant tried to get inside the waggon but he told him to get on the rumble. He (the plaintiff) turned the mule across the tram lines at the usual place for crossing the lines on the northern side of lot 58, High street, with the intention of going up Young street on his way to the East Coast. That as the hind wheels of his waggon were in the centre of the car track a car came up, hit the back of his waggon and smashed it up and dragged the waggon some distance he being under the waggon. He sustained certain injuries to his hand and leg.

The plaintiff's servant corroborates him as to leading out the mule, the lamps having been alight and the direction taken by the waggon. He also states he saw no tram-car when he came out of the yard but he saw a bright light some way down the road. That when the waggon was crossing the line where it is usually crossed and where there are two poles—outside Mr. Conyers's house—he went on the western side of the waggon to get into the rumble behind and as he got to the rumble the car was just on the waggon and he had to jump on one side to save himself.

Both these witnesses are corroborated by R. N. Gilchrist as to the pace the mule left the yard and the direction taken by the plaintiff and also states that when he got to the scene of the accident that the waggon was on the north side of Conyers's gate.

H. A. Cameron also corroborates this witness. As to the place where the accident occurred, he says he heard the impact and looked out at once, and saw the car and waggon opposite Conyers's house near the two poles.

One Saunders, who was on the road at the time, states he saw the waggon come out of the gate and turn to the left, that is to the north, and then cross the lines. He states also that he saw the car and saw when it ran into the waggon.

These witnesses and also Mr. Low, who was called for the plaintiff, state that after Mr. Patterson was taken from under the waggon and asked for the motorman that the conductor of the car, Hinds, said: "I don't know what the motorman was doing, I saw the waggon. I can't see how he did not see it."

Mr. Laurie Thomas, the Town Superintendent, gave evidence of certain measurements. From High street bridge (railway crossing) to Mr. Conyers's house being 1,425 feet. From High street bridge to Barrack street being 700 feet. From Barrack street to lot 58, High street, being 725 feet. From lot 58, High street, north gate, to the first curve on the north, being 50 feet. He also states that going north there is room for a carriage on each side up to Conyers's house, and a very little distance past Conyers's house. A carriage on the left or western side of the road would have to cross the line at an acute angle to go to Young street. He also gives the measurement of the gate at lot 58 at 10 feet and estimates the width of a waggon from axle to axle as 6 feet 6 inches.

For the defence the motorman Worrell, who was driving the car in question, states that he crossed the railway crossing at High street and slowed down at Barrack street and rang his gong. That he then went on and when 36 to 40 feet from the gate of lot 58 he saw a waggon rush out of the gate on the western side of the road and cross the line in front of the gate in a slanting direction. That he at once threw off the power, put on the brake and reversed. The car struck the waggon which was across the line and the car, after striking the waggon, went on 8 to 10 feet. In cross-examination he states that he could bring up his car with brake alone in 50 feet at the pace he was going and with brake and reverse in 30 to 40 feet. He also admits that carriages generally go up Kingston on the left hand or western side of the road and cross the curve by Conyers's house, and that the fender of his car got broken in the accident.

William Hinds, the conductor of the car, states that he was on the platform at the back of the car and there were two passengers, Quail and Morrison, on the back seat. He saw a waggon rush out of lot 58 suddenly when the car was about 10 feet off. The motorman applied his brake quickly and put on his reverse and at that moment the car and waggon collided, he also denied that he said he could not see how the motorman did not see the waggon.

The two boys, Morrison and Quail, gave evidence. They both state that the waggon rushed out of the yard and went straight across the line, the car striking the back part of the waggon which was between the tram-lines.

These two witnesses differ in that Morrison says the conductor applied the brakes before he struck the waggon whereas Quail says that he applied the brake as he struck the waggon.

I am satisfied that the plaintiff on the night in question did not drive out of the gate in the manner alleged by the witnesses for defence and cross the line directly opposite the gate. It has been given in evidence and it has not been denied that the plaintiff left the house for the purpose of going to the East Coast by way of Young street and had he rushed out of the gate in the manner described by the motorman he would not have been able to have turned his waggon and mule to the left so as to go to Young street. I believe the evidence of the plaintiff's witnesses as to his walking the mule out of the yard and going northward, on the left hand or western side of the road and their evidence is also strengthened by the fact that the waggon was found after the accident on the north side of the curve beyond Mr. Conyers's house. I am also satisfied that the lamps on the waggon were alight. I cannot believe the conductor's statement that he never said after the accident that he could not see why the motorman did not see the waggon, taking into consideration the evidence of Mr. Low, Mr. Cameron and the man Saunders, all independent witnesses.

The questions for me to decide are—did the motorman drive recklessly and negligently and fail to keep a proper look out—if so. Then was not plaintiff equally negligent, and what damages, if any, should be awarded.

As to the first question there is no evidence as to what rate of speed the motor-car was going, but the motorman in his evidence states that he first saw the waggon 36 to 40 feet from the gate and at the rate he was going with brake and reverse he could bring up the car in 30 to 40 feet, so therefore had he applied the brake and reverse when he first saw the waggon rush out of the gate as he says he would have been able to pull up his car opposite the gate and the impact would not have been so great as to damage the fender of his car although it might have injured the waggon shows that the accident happened 50 feet from the gate—giving him ample time to have applied the brake and reverse and from the evidence I find that he did not keep a proper and sufficient look out and was guilty of negligence in not doing so.

As to the second question, I am not satisfied that the plaintiff was guilty of negligence and equally blamable for the accident.

Dealing with the question of damages. The plaintiff claims as regards the waggon $200. The plaintiff in his evidence says this waggon was purchased by him in 1908 for $100, he tried to buy another waggon and some time after succeeded in getting one for $120. It was contended for defendant that the plaintiff is still in possession of the old waggon and that parts thereof could still be used, or realized. I think $110, a fair sum to award the plaintiff.

As regards medical attendance $40, Dr. Wylie states that he charged plaintiff $20. I therefore, award him that sum.

As regards harness $50, this appears to have been purchased in 1907, and I think $20 a fair sum to award the plaintiff.

As regards medicine, medical appliances $10, the only item proved is that of $1.68 for bandages, and I award the plaintiff that amount.

As regards other damages $200, Dr. Wylie in his evidence says that plaintiff's hand would be incapacitated for six weeks to two months. The plaintiff says he could not go back for two weeks but he suffered no loss of pay, and when he did go back he had to go back in a bateau but that did not cost him anything. He complained that his hand still hurt him when paying the labourers at the pay table and that he was unable in consequence of the injury to it to play golf. Taking everything into consideration I award the plaintiff $100 under this item.

There will be therefore judgment for the plaintiff for $251.68 with costs.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

GENERAL JURISDICTION.

THIS 39TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

CHAPMAN, Plaintiff,

versus

WIGHT, Defendant.

The plaintiff claims $5,000 as damages for an alleged libel contained in a letter written to, and published in, "The Daily Chronicle" and "The Daily Argosy" of the 18th December, 1910.

The letter to "The Daily Chronicle" is as follows:—

Sir,—With reference to the disputed valuation of Bettencourt & Company, Ltd.'s premises in Water street, I am embracing this opportunity, with your permission, to point out to the public certain irregularities that take place in this colony and are allowed go unnoticed.

In the first place let me deal with Mr. J. I. Chapman's evidence, as this gentleman's knowledge of house property is limited. He states the rental value of his Brick Store to be $450 per month, and if, he further said, he owned Bettencourt's premises, he should put the same valuation on it.

Sir, is this not conceit to compare his penned in premises with Messrs. Bettencourt & Company's "Giant Store"? I hope for the purposes of taxation he will so consider it and not for its sale to a company. One can hardly believe that a gentleman of his standing in this community would be guilty of such inconsistency. Now, is he competent to give evidence on the rental value of property? What was he doing in that gallery?

Now, with regard to my friend, Mr. Cunningham, this gentleman, with two others, value for the Town Council, and some time in January or February valued these premises at $59,000. Now he swears that the rental value is $480 per month, including fittings and everything. Surely there is some serious mistake somewhere that Mr. Cunningham should explain.

One would naturally have thought that competent men would have been summoned to give evidence in this very important case.

Now to be candid, this is, as before stated, what has induced me to write this letter—a desire to question the morality of the following case within my knowledge.

The Town Council valuers appraised a property in Water Street near Bettencourt's premises and the proprietor appealed and appointed his appraiser, who met Mr. Fred White, the appeal appraiser of the Council. Between them they did not agree on a valuation and they appointed an umpire, who, to put it mildly, met the proprietor and a fee arranged on by the proprietor without any consultation whatever with the gentleman who appointed him. Doesn't this make the valuation null and void? I trust this will catch the eye of His Worship the Mayor, and I hope the valuation will be gone into again.

I have been credibly informed that the valuation given as rental of the above premises was $200 to $240 per month. Surely this could not have been done to wilfully deceive.

Thanking you for your space,

I am, Sir, &c.,

PERCY C. WIGHT.

December 17th, 1910.

The letter to the "Daily Argosy" is in the same terms, with the addition in the penultimate paragraph after the words "they appointed an Umpire who to put it mildly met the proprietor," of the sentence in brackets "(I will not say he was sent for)."

The first part of the letter deals with Mr. Chapman's evidence before the Stipendiary Magistrate for Georgetown, who was sitting on an appeal under section 20 (3) of the Tax Ordinance 1910, to fix for the calculation of annual licence duty the rental value of the premises of Bettencourt and Company, Limited, in Water Street and the latter part mentions the fixing and payment of a fee to the Umpire appointed under the Georgetown Town Council Ordinance 1898, in connection with the re-appraisal for the purpose of municipal taxation of a property in Water Street near Bettencourt's premises, which it is admitted belonged to the plaintiff and it also refers to the rental value said to have been then given.

The innuendos pleaded are, (1) that the defendant by the said letters intended and meant that the plaintiff on the occasion on which he gave evidence on oath as aforesaid committed perjury, for the purpose of publicly inflating the value of the immovable property known as the Brick Store, in which the plaintiff carried on one of the businesses which he had then recently formed into a limited liability company, which property was part of the assets of the said company, and "for the purpose of deceiving the public as to the value of the said immovable property and into taking shares in his said Company;" and (2) that the defendant by the said letters also meant and intended, that the plaintiff bribed the person, who acted as umpire in the question of the re-appraisal of his said immovable property, to reduce the value of his property for the purposes of Town taxes, so as to defraud the Mayor and Town Council of Georgetown of taxes legally chargeable and payable thereon. Of these innuendos it is obvious that the first is intended to apply to the first part of the letters, and the second to the second part of such letters.

The defendant admits writing and publishing the two letters but denies the meanings attributed by the innuendos and avers the letters are incapable of bearing either of those meanings, or any other defamatory meaning. He denies that they were written of or concerning the plaintiff, or of or concerning him in connection with his said Company or as owner of property in the colony, and pleads that the statements contained in the second part of the letters are true in substance and fact and that so far as the letters express opinions they are fair comments made in good faith and without malice on matters of public interest.

It was but little contested and is we think clearly proved that the letters were written of or concerning the plaintiff. The first question therefore for decision is, whether the letters bear both or either of the defamatory meanings attributed to them by the innuendos, or in their natural and obvious meaning are defamatory. We proceed to consider the innuendos reserving for later consideration the question whether even without the innuendos the letters are libellous. On the occasion referred to in the first part of the letters, the plaintiff was called as an expert to give evidence as to the rental value which might properly be fixed for Bettencourt's premises, and the evidence he gave was a matter of opinion only and not a statement of actual facts. This being so a charge of perjury could not be laid on it however erroneous or worthless or ill-intentioned his opinion as to such rental value might be. The first part of the letters is a criticism on the plaintiff as an expert, a criticism on another expert's evidence in the same matter being added to that directed against the plaintiff. Also at the date of publication of the letters, the plaintiff's Company had been registered, and on 27th Nov., 1910, a short paragraph in the "Daily Chronicle" had appeared stating that the plaintiff's business and business premises were about to be taken over by a Company and that the shares had been subscribed privately. The innuendo that the defendant meant by his criticism that the plaintiff had been guilty of perjury for the purpose of publicly inflating the value of the Brick Store and of deceiving the public as to its value "and into taking shares in his Company" is not in our opinion established.

The second part of the letter, as is admitted by the plaintiff's reply and shewn by the evidence, correctly states the facts mentioned in the penultimate paragraph, viz., the appraisalment by the Town Council valuers of a property in Water Street, near Bettencourt's premises (admitted to be the plaintiff's) the appeal by the plaintiff, the appointment of his appraiser, the meeting between his appraiser and Mr. Fred. White, the appeal appraiser of the Council, their non-agreement as to the valuation of the premises, their appointment of an umpire, the meeting of the umpire with the proprietor and a fee arranged on by the proprietor without any consultation with the appraisers who appointed the umpire. In both letters the phrase "to put it mildly" is inserted before the word "met" in the statement that the umpire "met the proprietor" and in the letter in the "Daily Argosy" the further sentence "(I will not say he was sent for)" follows the word "met." There is no averment in the Statement of Claim that these two phrases convey any covert insinuation (cf. R. v. Gathercole, 2 Lew at p. 241) or are used ironically (Boydell v. Jones, 4 M. & W. 446) and the words used being, if taken literally in their ordinary meaning, prima facie innocent, lend but little support to the innuendo, that the plaintiff bribed the person who acted as umpire to reduce the value of his property for the purpose of Town Taxes, so as to defraud The Mayor and Town Council of Georgetown of taxes legally payable thereon. The morality of the proceeding and its effect on the validity of the valuation are expressly questioned, but, in our opinion, the paragraph does not support the innuendo and the Court holds that innuendo is not proved.

The question what effect the previous payment of a fee by the party appealing from an appraisalment by the Town Council valuers to the person selected by him as appraiser on the appeal, or to the umpire appointed by the two appeal appraisers, may have on the validity of the valuation arrived at is not before the Court and need be considered in this action. Also, the plea that the facts alleged in the penultimate paragraph of the letters are true being an answer to the plaintiff's claim for damages in respect of the statement of these facts, it is not necessary to consider at length the law as to the making of such payments, but in view of the evidence in this case as to payments made by appellants to appeal appraisers and possibly to umpires appointed under the Georgetown Town Council Ordinance, 1898, it is right to point out that sect. 142 (2) of that Ordinance expressly provides for the fees both of such appraisers and of such umpires being fixed by the Town Council, that no custom or practice that the party appealing should by agreement with his appeal appraiser or the umpire fix the fee can override the provisions of the statute, and that the fixing by agreement such fee and the payment of the same by an appellant before his appeal has been determined would, even if there were no statutory provision on the matter be open to grave legal objections. It is fair to add that on the evidence (although the proceeding was improper for these reasons) before us we do not believe that the fee in this case was paid for the purpose of influencing the umpire's award or had that effect.

The innuendos not being sustained, the question remains whether the letters in their natural and obvious meaning are defamatory. In the early part of each letter a statement, avowed by the statement of claim to be untrue and shown by the evidence to be so made, viz., that the plaintiff in his evidence before the Magistrate stated the rental value of his Brick Store to be $450 a month. On this statement the subsequent criticism of the plaintiff is based he is charged with conceit in comparing his penned in premises with Bettencourt's, and the letters proceed "I hope for the purposes of taxation he will so consider it a detriment for its sale to a Company. One can hardly believe that a gentleman of his standing in this community would be guilty of such inconsistency." This, we think, naturally suggests to the ordinary reader's mind the question what inconsistency? Has Mr. Chapman valued this property at one figure for taxation and at another for other purposes? And on reading the remainder of the letter he would find an account of an appeal by the plaintiff from the appraisalment for the purposes of taxation of his Brick Store (that being obviously the property referred to) of the umpire meeting him and a fee arranged between them, and would read in the last paragraph of the letter "I have been credibly informed that the valuation given as rental of the above premises was $200 to $240 per month. Surely this could not have been done so wilfully deceive." The appraisers and umpire give not the rental valuation but the capital value of the premises appraised, and they could not be supposed to give a rental value to "wilfully deceive." We think the natural construction put on the letter by an ordinary reader would be that the plaintiff though giving before the Magistrate the high amount of $450 a month as the rental value of the Brick Store yet had given (inconsistently) when its value had to be determined for taxation purposes the much lower rental value of $200 to $240 a month. The proceedings before a Magistrate under sect. 20 (3) of the Tax Ordinance, 1910, are matters of public interest, and everyone has the right to comment on the evidence given in such proceedings, provided he does not exceed the limits of fair criticism. But as laid down in Joynt v. Cycle Trade Publishing Company (L. R. (1904) 2 K.B.D. at p. 294) the comment on such matters "must not misstate facts because a comment cannot be fair which is built upon facts which are not truly stated." In the present case, it is proved by Mr. Hill's evidence that the plaintiff, in his evidence before the Magistrate, gave $450 a month as the rental value, not of the Brick Store, but of Bettencourt's and put the rental value of the Brick Store at $225 to $250 a month. The defendant's statement that the plaintiff gave $450 a month as the rental value of the Brick Store was, therefore, untrue, and the criticism based on that assertion cannot be justified. It is, in our opinion, defamatory to charge any one with assigning to his property for purposes of taxation a lower rental value than he shortly after swears it possesses, hence the plaintiff is, we think, entitled to some damages. The facts that the false statement had previously appeared in the newspaper report of the proceedings before the Magistrate and was believed by the defendant, though not justifying the defendant, must be considered in mitigation of damages, as well as the circumstance that both newspapers published statements showing that the evidence attributed to the plaintiff had not been given by him, thus to some extent correcting the impression which may have been produced by the false statement contained in the defendant's letters and by the criticism therein based on such false statement. The relations between the plaintiff and defendant at the time these letters were published were somewhat strained, there being an action by the defendant against the plaintiff pending, but the facts that the defendant published his letter in two newspapers, and made no correction therein when the falsity of the statement of the plaintiff's evidence before the Magistrate was pointed out by those newspapers are, we think, the only facts which can be regarded as an indication of special ill-will on the part of the defendant against the plaintiff.

We assess the damages at $75 and give judgment for that amount for the plaintiff. We see no sufficient ground for certifying that this action was properly brought in the General Jurisdiction and therefore in accordance with sect. 56 (1) of Ord. 7 of 1893 each party must bear his own costs.

FULL COURT (APPEAL COURT.)

THIS 30TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

McKALEY & ANOR
versus
GOOPIAH & ANOR.

This is an appeal from Hewick, J., who in an opposition action brought to restrain the transport of certain lots in which is included the leeward half of the centre third of lots 11 and 12, claimed by the plaintiffs, as the heirs, ab intestato, of the original holders of Letters of Decree, dated 13th July, 1842, and therein described as "the leeward half of the plantation formerly called Two Friends or half of the centre one-third part of lots numbers 11 and 12," situate on the west sea coast of the county of Berbice, dismissed the action without costs.

The substantial grounds of appeal to be gathered from the reasons set out in detail are: (1) that the land in dispute passed by Letters of Decree on 13th July, 1842, to the ancestors of the appellants; (2) that the alleged title of Alpin Grant—through whom the respondents claim—was not obtained until 1856, and could not dispossess the appellants who were in possession, even though they did not oppose the sale by execution; (3) that the title of the respondents does not include this land; and (4) that the appellants are entitled to same by right of prescription.

With the exception of the Surveyor's, the evidence is that of interested parties. Mr. Seymour, a Land Surveyor, called by the plaintiffs, says that he obtained a copy of Mr. Fowler's diagram and used Mr. Fowler's chart and that according to Mr. Fowler's scale the claim of plaintiffs would fall near the red line—that on his chart it would not include the leeward half of the centre third; that the transport as advertised would exclude the leeward half of the centre third; that his division is based on Mr. Fowler's chart, while Mr. Fowler called by the respondents says "if the Letters of Decree refer to the land they claim, they ought to be on the other side, if they claim both they ought to have 100 rods." In the face of this evidence it cannot be held that the plaintiffs have established their title to this land by Letters of Decree. The present action, it is admitted, refers to the same land which was the subject matter in a previous action in this Court, viz., London v. Murray (1.5.1906, L.J.) In that case it was held that the then plaintiffs had failed to establish their claim, and the grounds on which that conclusion is founded are fully set out in the judgment and apply equally in the present case. We are of opinion that the learned Judge in the present action was right in coming to the same conclusion.

The evidence does not establish that the appellants were in possession in 1856, but if for the sake of argument, this was admitted, the further question would arise as to their having remained passive and taken no steps to oppose Letters of Decree being granted to Alpin Grant in 1856, or to the purchase at execution by Murray in 1904.

In South African Association vs. Van Staven (9 Juta 95) where the Mortgages of certain land having purchased it at a sale in execution brought an action to eject an occupier who was joint purchaser with the execution debtor (but not so registered) and who had in addition thereto a title by prescription, it was held that inasmuch as he had made no objection to the sale at execution, after due notice thereof had been given, he could not set up a right of prescription against a purchaser without notice of his claim.

There is no evidence that either in 1856, or in 1904, when Mr. Murray purchased at execution sale, the purchaser on either of these occasions was aware that any claim to the land was made by any other party. It is true that in 1906, when Murray sold to the respondents the sale was opposed by the suit in London vs. Murray but this claim was dismissed. See also Lango and another vs. Liesching and another (Ford's Reports 1880 p. 55). This covers the appellants' fourth ground of appeal and with regard to the third it is clear that a plaintiff has to show that his opposition is just legal and well-founded and not that the defendants' title may be defective.

This appeal must be dismissed and the decision confirmed with costs of appeal.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH
GUIANA.

APPEAL COURT (FULL COURT.)

THIS 30TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

SYANADA BEE, Appellant.

versus

CRAIGEN, Respondent.

This is an appeal from a decision of Hawtayne, acting Judge, dismissing without costs the action brought by the appellant.

The appellant, suing by writ specially endorsed, claimed from the defendant $278 91 as the balance of an account due and payable for goods sold and delivered, and moneys paid and advanced by the plaintiff to and for the defendant at his request, between the 1st June, 1910, and the 9th August, 1910, both dates inclusive, a bill of particulars being annexed to the said writ.

The defendant denied the existence of any indebtedness to the plaintiff, the purchase or receipt by him of any goods from the plaintiff, the payment by the plaintiff for him at his request of any moneys, and his having dealt with the plaintiff at all. He averred that the plaintiff through one Meerza agreed in February, 1910, to supply one Ameerbuksh with goods and that Ameerbuksh should supply the plaintiff through Meerza with greenheart and other wood, and that the amount charged for such wood should be put to the credit of the account for goods supplied, and that he became surety for Ameerbuksh carrying out his part of the agreement: that greenheart and other wood was supplied by Ameerbuksh on certain dates specified to the value of $327 10, and that therefore, if the amount sued for was correctly stated, it had been overpaid by means of the wood supplied; but the defendant, while admitting that the goods mentioned in the bill of particulars on and between the dates 1st June, 1910, and 22nd June, 1910, were sold, supplied and delivered to Ameerbuksh, denied that any of the goods mentioned in such bill between the 1st July and the 9th August, 1910, were sold or delivered to Ameerbuksh or to him or that any moneys were between the said dates paid for on account or at the request of them or either of them.

By his reply, the plaintiff in substance and effect pleaded that there was an account between him and Ameerbuksh in respect of goods supplied Ameerbuksh, but that the defendant was not a party to or a surety in respect thereof, that Ameerbuksh supplied him with some greenheart the value of which was credited to the account which was adjusted on 18th March, 1910, that subsequently goods were supplied to and moneys paid for Ameerbuksh, and he was credited in August, 1910, with $42, the value of certain greenheart planks, that no other greenheart or other planks had been supplied the plaintiff, though some had been sent to one Cheddy for sale, and to Meerza for sale on Ameerbuksh's account, all of which remain unsold and he (the plaintiff) was not indebted to Ameerbuksh in any sum: and that the said account with Ameerbuksh was separate and distinct from the account now sued on, which was opened, on or about 10th May, 1910, between the plaintiff and defendant on his own behalf and not as surety for Ameerbuksh.

The learned judge held that there was an agreement between the plaintiff and the defendant for the supply of goods to the latter on his own account, and that the goods in respect of which the action was brought had been supplied and delivered to the defendant in accordance with the agreement, that as regards the greenheart and other woods supplied by Ameerbuksh the plaintiff had accounted for the same having given credit to Ameerbuksh for part thereof and the remainder still remaining in the hands of Cheddy and of the plaintiff unsold: that no price at which the goods should be supplied had been fixed and that therefore the decisions in Teixeira v. Gomes (G.J. 4 July, 1903), Blake v. O'Connor (A.J. 9 Oct., 1908), and D'Abreu v. Pestana (L.J. 19 Feb., 1910) required judgment to be given for the defendant and he gave judgment accordingly.

Of the reasons for appeal argued on behalf of the appellant the only ones which need be considered may be stated as being in substance and effect as follows:—

(a) that the respondents not having pleaded specifically that no prices had been fixed or that there was no sale of the goods must be taken to have admitted a contract of sale complete in all respects and could not raise at the trial the point that no prices had been fixed;

(b) that the judge having found that the defendant agreed with the plaintiff for the supply of goods and that the goods were supplied and delivered to the defendant, should, if no prices were fixed and agreed on, have held that the defendant impliedly agreed to pay for them at market rates, or at a fair and reasonable price:

(c) that the learned judge was wrong in holding, that in case of a contract of sale of merchandise the vendor cannot recover the value of the merchandise if delivered and accepted, unless the price has been fixed specifically; it being sufficient if on the evidence the price can be fixed or made certain by relation:

(d) that if the price must be fixed, there was abundant evidence that the prices charged were fixed at the time of delivery, that such prices were the market prices then prevailing, and that the defendant agreed to pay them.

On behalf of the respondent, it is contended that however the question of law, on which the decision appealed from rests, is decided, the action must be dismissed, the learned judge having erred in finding that the goods were supplied and delivered to the defendant according to agreement, there being no evidence that the goods were ordered in the way agreed on, or that they were received, retained, or used by the defendant or any one acting on his behalf.

On the evidence before us we think it must be held that the goods were duly ordered, it not being open to the defendant's counsel, who raised no objection before the judge below to the oral evidence being received, to object now that the written orders should have been produced. It is also in our opinion proved that the goods were delivered to Sproston to be conveyed by steamer to the defendant at Aurora, and that the defendant ordered the goods to be so sent. In the absence of facts proving the contrary this we think sufficiently proves a delivery to and acceptance by the defendant. The sums paid as freight on the goods must in our opinion be held to have been paid at the defendant's request, but there is no evidence that the cash $2.24, mentioned under date July 1st in the bill of particulars, was paid to or for the defendant, and the sums of $20 and $3 respectively paid for portage and conveyance of greenheart planks, which are shewn by the evidence to have been sent by Ameerbuksh to the plaintiff for sale, and to be held by him subject to Ameerbuksh's directions as to the price to be accepted, are not recoverable from the defendant: the fact that Ameerbuksh told the plaintiff that when the timber was sold he could credit the defendant with the proceeds of sale, not being sufficient per se to shew that the timber was the defendant's and even if the plaintiff might be entitled to deduct the amount of such portage and freight from the proceeds of the timber when sold, he cannot legally charge the defendant therewith.

The substantial questions for decision on this appeal are whether the price at which the goods were to be supplied was fixed and if not, then (a question not argued in the Court below) whether the plaintiff can recover any sum from the defendant in respect thereof. The defendant having by his statement of defence (sections 1, 2 and 3) put in issue the existence of any contract between him and the plaintiff, the onus of proving all the elements of a complete contract lay on the plaintiff and the defendant is therefore not debarred by his pleading from raising these points. The evidence states "a pass book" was kept in which the transactions were entered. That book is not in evidence and secondary evidence of its contents was not allowed. If such a book is in any case used and the goods supplied and the prices charged are entered therein at the time of each transaction and no objection to such prices is raised by the person receiving the pass book and goods, a fortiori if payments of cash on account are subsequently to any such transaction made and entered in such book, the Court would, without difficulty in the absence of counter-vailing evidence, conclude that the prices for such goods had been fixed and a binding contract to pay such price existed. If also a general and well-understood custom to supply goods in cases like the present where no price is specified at market rates and an existing market rate were proved the same result would follow. But in the present case there is no evidence from which the Court can properly infer that any fixed price was agreed on either specifically or by reference to the market price at any time prevailing. This being so, there was no contract of sale between the parties (Teixeira v. Gomes, Blake v. O'Connor, D'Abreu v. Pestana, ubi sup. c.t., Treasurer, General v. Ormond, 2 Juta, 127). None, however of the cases cited supports the view that under Roman Dutch law where there has been no contract of sale, but goods have been supplied by one party to another at his request under circumstances shewing a donation was not intended the party receiving such goods is not liable to compensate the party supplying them. In the case first mentioned, the Court declined to grant specific performance of an alleged contract of sale and declined on the ground that no price had been fixed and no such contract made: in the second, the Court held that a contract of mutuum having been made, the claim that a contract of sale had subsequently been substituted for it was not established, no price having been fixed; and in the third, not only was the point under discussion not raised, but there was not sufficient evidence on which the amount of compensation could be properly determined, and the Court therefore gave judgment for the amount of the items to which a price was assigned at the date of their delivery, while abstaining from giving judgment for the prices sought to be assigned to other items a considerable time after the date of delivery. It is we think clear that in a case like the present where a shopkeeper requests a merchant or commission dealer to supply him with goods quæ usu consumuntur, the presumption necessarily arises that a donation is not asked but it is intended compensation shall be made, and if no price is fixed, then under the Roman Dutch law the person to whom they are supplied is liable to pay "fair and reasonable" compensation. (Dig. L. 17. 74 and 135: Humphry v. Kaps 28 Oct., 1905, Grotius III. 1. 16 and 17: Van Leeu IV. 1. 9.) A market rate if proved to exist would probably in most cases be fair and reasonable. The plaintiff under the Rules of Court cannot be held disentitled to recover, simply because he claimed there had been a contract of sale, the facts alleged being sufficient to entitle him to relief: (cf. dicta of Brett, M.R. in Coverdale v. Charlton, 4 Q.B. D. 119), and the relief to be given not being inconsistent with his claim. In the present case the prices specified in the bill of particulars are stated in the evidence to be fair and reasonable, and the compensation payable must be assessed on that basis. The appeal is therefore allowed and judgment given for the appellant for the sum of $278.91, less $2.24 cash not proved to have been advanced and $23 the amount charged for portage and conveyance of the greenheart now unsold, i.e., $253.67 with costs of appeal.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

ROSA
versus

NELSON CANNON AND COOMAR MARAJ.

The plaintiff claims one trap and one waggon levied on by the defendant, N. Cannon, for a debt due to him by one Coomar Maraj as his property, he having purchased the same from one John Gonsalves.

The plaintiff, in his evidence, stated that he bought the same from John Gonsalves one Sunday at Coomar Maraj's house where he met Gonsalves and that he paid Gonsalves $15 in cash and gave him a cow and calf for the same and that Gonsalves gave him the receipt produced; that the same day he took the trap and waggon to one Fernandes to whom he owed $50 and pledged the same with him as security for the $50.

Fernandes, in his evidence, states that both Coomar Maraj and the plaintiff were at his house on the Sunday that the trap and waggon were bought and that he understood that they were the property of Rosa.

John Gonsalves was called for the defence and stated that on the 11th February, he saw Coomar Maraj and offered him the trap and waggon and that he and Coomar Maraj arranged the price at $60; Coomar Maraj offered to pay the same partly in cash and the balance he would give a note for. That offer was refused. That on the Sunday, Coomar Maraj sent him a message by Rosa, he went to Coomar Maraj's house and he there agreed to sell the trap and waggon for $15 in cash and a cow and calf. Coomar Maraj paid the $15, he gave a receipt and at request of Coomar Maraj, put it in the name of Rosa, he at the time believing that Rosa was a name that Coomar Maraj was known by. He did not know the plaintiff's name and he had no transaction with him.

I believe that the trap and waggon were bought by Coomar Maraj and that the receipt was given in Rosa's name and the traps taken to Fernandes to prevent Coomar Maraj's creditors levying on same.

The levy is upheld and the claim dismissed with costs.

THIS 30TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

HING CHEONG & COMPANY, LTD., Plaintiffs
AND
WILLIAM MAN-SON-HING.

This is application by the defendant that the time for delivering and filing the defence in this action may be extended to ten days from the date of the order to be made on this application and that the cost of the application be paid by the plaintiff.

On the 16th January, 1911, the defendant filed an application in this action for leave to issue a third party notice and for an extension of time for delivering defence to ten days after such application should be determined on the 22nd day of February, such application was heard and dismissed by Mr. Justice Berkeley, who extended the time for delivering and filing the defence to ten days from that date.

Nothing appears to have been done by the defendant until the 28th February, when Mr. Laurence, counsel for defendant had an interview with Mr. King plaintiffs' solicitor, and on the same day Mr. Laurence wrote Mr. King a letter in which he admits that the plaintiff company is entitled to recover the sum of $7,000 from Tat and the defendant jointly and severally. He also sets forth certain proposals and adds: "It is understood between us that the time for delivering defence in the action now pending will be extended for the time occupied by this offer and by negotiations that may arise out of it."

On the 3rd March, Mr. King replies refusing on behalf of his clients the proposals made but states if you will consent to sentence my clients are quite prepared to give every assistance to recover any part of the debt due by Tat.

The time for delivery of defence may be extended to the 6th instant.

On the same day 3rd March, Mr. Laurence replies to that letter in which he again admits that the Company is entitled to recover $7,000, but nothing is said about a further extension of time.

On the 4th March, Mr. King writes Mr. Laurence. Please understand clearly that on no consideration except that of payment will your client be released from his liability and that the time for filing your defence will not be extended beyond the 6th instant.

This last letter, it appears, was not received by Mr. Laurence until the 6th. On that date Mr. Laurence wrote Mr. King: "You agreed that the time for defence should be extended for the time occupied by these negotiations. When you inform one definitely that the offer I have made is either accepted or refused, I am to have the same time for defence that I had when the offer was made, namely, four days. I do not understand your saying that the time will not be extended beyond to-day."

On 7th March, Mr. King replied that he had already written and also told Mr. Laurence in person that his clients would not release Mr. Man-Son-Hing and that he was instructed to place the case on list ex parte.

By a letter dated 7th March, Mr. Laurence claims that Mr. King's letter of the 3rd instant contained a counter proposal to his of the 28th February, and therefore he was entitled to an extension of time until that counter proposal was considered.

On 9th March, Mr. King replies that in order to make matters perfectly clear he would not file his request to put the matter on the hearing list until Saturday, the 11th instant.

Mr. Laurence on the 9th replies that the time to which he considers his client entitled is four days and not one and a half days.

This application was not filed until the 14th March, 1911, and on the same day an application was made to fix the case ex parte.

I am of opinion that negotiations between Mr. Laurence and Mr. King were ended by Mr. King's letter of 3rd March. I do not consider that Mr. Laurence letter of 3rd March can be taken as a continuation of the negotiations. Mr. Laurence would therefore be entitled to four days as by agreement with Mr. King to file his defence as from the 3rd of March.

I am of opinion that the defendant is not entitled to the extension asked for.

The application is dismissed with costs.

TAMAR NEWARK,
versus
EDWARD HIGGINS.

This is an opposition to a sale at execution on behalf of Edward Higgins versus James A. Newark, of an undivided one forty-fifth part or share of Plantation Aberdeen, Essequibo.

The ground of opposition being that it is not competent for the said Edward Higgins to sell the property opposed as the property of the said James Newark without reserving the proportion owned by the opposer.

Plantation Aberdeen was on the 17th day of July, 1852, transported to John Thomas Lynch, John Parkinson and Quashie Alexander, their and each of their heirs and assigns.

From the evidence it appears that Plantation Aberdeen was taken to consist of 60 shares and those shares were taken up by 36 shareholders and the transport passed as already stated to John Thomas Lynch, John Parkinson and Quashie Alexander, of these shares, Quashie Alexander took two and Paul Newark took one.

Quashie Alexander by his will dated 18th August, 1890, bequeathed to his godson Charles MacIntosh and Alexander Stephen his right, title and interest in and to Plantation Aberdeen, share and share alike, Alexander Stephen, otherwise known as Stephen Alexander, died in February, 1889, and by his will bequeathed to Elizabeth Anna Scott and James A. Newark, six acres each of land from or in his undivided one-third ($\frac{1}{3}$) portion of Plantation Aberdeen, county of Essequibo, and to Phillis James, Elvira Elizabeth Stephen and Charles MacIntosh, the residue of his claim of one-third of the said estate, share and share alike.

Paul Newark by his will bequeathed to his ten children Robin Newark, Joseph Newark, William Newark, Prudence Newark, Michael Newark, Juliet Newark, Tamar Newark, MacLeod Newark, Elizabeth Newark, his one fiftieth undivided share in Plantation Aberdeen, and directed that no one of the children should be allowed by the others to sell out his or her portion but in the event of death of any one of them the property was to be held by succession.

James Alexander Newark in his evidence states that three of these ten, he has been told, were dead and one other has not been heard of for years but there is no evidence before the Court if they died without issue.

Evidence was also given that a share of the estate known as Gordon's share was purchased by James A. Newark, the judgment-debtor and others, but was levied on at execution sale by one Da Silva and sold; that the said James A. Newark had no interest in that portion at the time Higgins levied on his one-forty-fifth undivided share.

It appears that at the time Higgins levied on James A. Newark's share, he was under the impression that the whole of the estate belonged to John Thomas Lynch, John Parkinson and Quashie Alexander, share and share alike, they having received transport for the same and it also appears Alexander Stephen when dealing with the property left him by Quashie Alexander was under the same impression.

The question as to the rights of Lynch, Parkinson and Quashie Alexander, under the transport in question was decided in the case of Napoleon v. Higgins and another in 1867, Beaumont, C.J., in his judgment says, "There can be no doubt that the plantation was acquired by Parkinson and his co-trustees on behalf of and as trustees for the plaintiff and numerous other persons."

This being so, Paul Newark would be entitled to a transport of his one share or one-fiftieth part of plantation Aberdeen and Tamar Newark, as one of the heirs under his will would be entitled to one-tenth of that one-fiftieth and James Alexander Newark would also be entitled to one-tenth of that one-fiftieth.

Quashie Alexander in his life-time being only entitled to two shares or two-fiftieths of the estate could only have bequeathed that amount, which he did by giving Charles MacIntosh one share and Alexander Stephen one share. This would give them each six acres. Alexander Stephen, however, under his will, deals with a great deal more than six acres, viz., 24 acres as having inherited the same from Quashie Alexander. It is clear, therefore, that James Alexander Newark is not possessed of one undivided one-forty-fifth part of the estate. It is also clear that the opposer is entitled to one undivided one-fifth-hundredth part of the whole estate, that being so, her interest would be affected by the sale of an undivided one-forty-fifth of the whole estate.

The opposition is, therefore, held legal, just and well-founded. I restrain the defendant from selling at execution the property herein opposed. I grant costs to the opposer.

JAMALUDDIN

versus

CHIN CHOY.

This is an interpleader action in which the plaintiff claims two troolie-roofed houses, 1 cow shed, 1 black bull, 1 red heifer, and 1 brown cow and calf, levied on by the plaintiff in the suit of Chin Choy vs. Abdool Rahim.

It lies on the claimant to establish his claim. The Court is not satisfied as to the evidence of the witnesses which is in many respects of a contradictory nature. The receipt put in is not believed to be genuine. The circumstances attending its execution are peculiar. We find the one witness who can write undertakes to sign for those who cannot write, and in addition thereto the date on the stamp does not appear to have been written at the same time as the body of the receipt.

The claim is disallowed and judgment entered for defendant with costs.

J. V. MITTELHOLZER, as Attorney of
J. R. SAMUEL

versus

PEROT & GREEN.

The plaintiff as the constituted attorney on record in this colony of Miss Jane Rosaline Samuel seeks to recover from the defendants, lately carrying on business as auctioneers and brokers, the sum of $1,569 made up as follows, that is to say, $1,560 advanced on 2nd July, 1908, for the purpose of purchasing certain British Guiana Mutual Scrip in behalf of the plaintiff and the further sum of $9 being out-of-pocket expenses and brokerage charges in connection therewith.

The defendants are in default of appearance and a certificate to that effect has been laid over.

It is proved that on 2nd July, 1908, the plaintiff drew a cheque in favour of the defendants payable to order for the amount claimed and the stamp thereon shows that it was paid on the same day. The sale note given by the defendants states that the money was received for the purpose set out in the claim. The plaintiff in his evidence states that the defendant Green has admitted to him that his firm never purchased the scrip in question, and he alleges that he has had no return of any portion of this money and that the firm has not carried into effect any of the proposals with regard thereto made by Green in his letter of 23rd August, 1909.

Judgment is given for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,569 and costs.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 29TH DAY OF MARCH, 1911.

J. B. ALEXANDER

versus

MARTHA CHEE-A-TOW.

This is an appeal from the decision of P. A. Farrar Manby, Stipendiary Magistrate, Georgetown Judicial District, who gave sentence for the respondent for $45.60 being the amount due, owing and payable by the appellant to the respondent for, firstly, the sum of $39.60 for 11 months' rent of 2 rooms on 20 or 23, Lombard Street, from 1st June, 1909, to 30th April, 1910, at $3.60 per month; and secondly, for $6 being one month's rent of a building used as a shop on the same lot from 1st to 31st day of March, 1910, at the rental of $6 per month.

The reasons for appeal are—

1. The decision is erroneous in point of law:

(a.) because it has not been proved that any rent is due for the period sued for or any other portion thereof in respect of the two rooms in question.

(b.) because it has not been proved that the rent has not been paid for the period from 1st of June, 1909, to 31st December, 1909, in respect of the said two rooms.

(c.) because it has been proved for the defence that the rent has been fully paid up to the 31st December, 1909.

Counsel for appellant abandoned his appeal with respect to the sum of $6 and argued as regard the sum of $39.60, that the respondent had not proved that the appellant had occupied the rooms in question and that he had not paid the rent and that he was still indebted to the respondent in the sum claimed. The agent of the respondent in the Court below swore inter alia, "I claim rent to the end of April, 1910, for two rooms—11 months. I told him I would not claim for month of May. I have often asked him for money. He never disputed debt." He called witnesses as to appellant's occupancy of the two rooms. The defendant himself gave evidence and admits that he hired these rooms but says he gave up possession in November, 1909.

The Magistrate in his reasons for decision says the sole question for me to decide was the time the rooms were given up by defendant. On this point I prefer to believe the evidence of Greaves and Brereton rather than defendant and his witnesses. There is ample evidence on the whole case for the Magistrate to find that the appellant was the tenant of the rooms for the period claimed and that he had not paid his rent for that period.

The Magistrate's decision is upheld.
Appeal dismissed with costs.

BUDHOO, Appellant,

versus

NEPAUL MARAJ, Respondent.

This is an appeal from the Stipendiary Magistrate of the Berbice Judicial District who convicted appellant of wilfully killing a certain goat of the value of six shillings, the property of the respondent, with intent to steal the carcass thereof.

The respondent does not appear.

The grounds of appeal are that there is no evidence (1) that the appellant killed the goat; (2) that the goat in question was ever killed.

The evidence of the respondent is to the effect that the head and skin of his goat was brought to him by his son and that the condition of these showed it had been recently killed, while that of the son is that he saw the appellant—who had a bag and outlass—put the meat into the bag and on seeing witness he ran into the bush with it, that after chasing appellant he returned to the spot where he had seen him and found the head and skin which he took to his father—he also saw blood. He is corroborated by another witness while one Tugroo speaks to seeing the goat grazing near to appellant some short time before.

It is submitted by counsel that the goat might have died a natural death and that if even appellant killed it, there is no evidence to show that he did so wilfully.

The Magistrate believed the evidence adduced by the respondent and this was sufficient to warrant the conclusion arrived at by the Magistrate that the appellant had wilfully killed it.

Appeal is dismissed and the decision is confirmed. The respondent not having appeared no costs are granted.

Executive Council Notice.

GUIANA PUBLIC BUILDINGS,
Georgetown, Demerara,
13th April, 1911.

THE following Rules and Regulations for keeping and auditing the Public Accounts of the Colony and for the guidance and control of Public Officers in charge of, or dealing with, Public Moneys, made by the Governor-in-Council under section 8 of the Audit Ordinance, 1884, on the eleventh day of April, 1911, are hereby published for general information. The Regulations will come into force on the first day of June, 1911.

By Command,

JAMES DRYSDALE,
Acting Clerk of the Council.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR KEEPING AND AUDITING THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS OF THE COLONY AND FOR THE GUIDANCE AND CONTROL OF PUBLIC OFFICERS IN CHARGE OF, OR DEALING WITH, PUBLIC MONEYS.

I.—ACCOUNTING OFFICERS.

1. The Receiver General is the Chief Accounting Officer of the Colonial Government, and, subject to these regulations and to such instructions as may be made by the Governor-in-Council under Section 8 of Audit Ordinance 4 of 1884, the financial and accounting operations of the Government are under his general management and supervision, but it is also the duty of the Government Secretary, the Auditor General, the heads of departments, officers in charge of districts and all the Receiver General's sub-accountants to take care that these regulations are duly observed.

2. It is the duty of the Receiver General :—

- (i.) To keep watch on the receipts of public revenue and as far as possible to secure its punctual collection ;
- (ii.) To bring promptly to account, under the proper heads and items, all money, whether revenue or other receipts, paid into the Treasury or accounted for to him ;

- (iii.) To see that proper provision is made for the safe keeping of all public money and stamps ;
- (iv.) To exercise strict supervision over all the officers of his department and sub-accountants entrusted with the receipt or expenditure of public money, and to take precautions, by the maintenance of efficient checks, against the occurrence of fraud, embezzlement or carelessness in connexion therewith ;
- (v.) To watch the expenditure and other disbursements of the Government ; to take care that no payment is made which is not covered by proper authority, expressed or referred to on the voucher relating to it ; and, in case of any apparent extravagance or of any apparent defect in the provision for a charge owing to the exhaustion or absence of a Vote, to call the attention of the Government Secretary in writing to the matter ;
- (vi.) Promptly to charge in his accounts under the proper heads and items of estimate all disbursements of the Government ; to render the accounts for audit ; and to prepare the Financial Statements and Returns.

3. The Receiver General is entitled at all times, personally or by deputy, to make surprise inspections of the accounts of his sub-accountants, and to have access to all books, records and vouchers in the charge of such officers and to call for such returns as he may deem necessary.

On the completion of such inspections, he will report to the Government Secretary any material irregularity connected with the public accounts that he may have noticed and any particular in which the provisions of the revenue laws may appear to him to need amendment.

4. Heads of Departments and sub-accountants are personally and pecuniarily responsible for the due performance of the financial duties of their departments or officers ; for the proper collection and custody of all public money receivable by them, and for any inaccuracies in the accounts rendered by them or under their authority.

The responsibility of the Auditor General for checking and reporting any shortcomings in connexion with the public accounts or finances does not absolve any officer from his responsibility for complying, or securing compliance, with instructions within the scope of his own authority. It is his duty without fail to bring to notice any incompetence or repeated carelessness on the part of his subordinates. No officer will be relieved from any portion of his responsibility should he depute to his subordinates the performance of duties which he should have performed himself.

5. The Auditor General and his deputies are at all times entitled to have access to all books, records or returns relating to accounts, and all accounting officers will give them every facility for inspecting such documents.

6. It is the duty of all accounting officers promptly to reply to any queries addressed to them by the auditor, giving fully the particulars or information desired.

7. No change in the system of accounts in any Department of the Government shall be made without the approval in writing of the Receiver General.

II.—THE ESTIMATES.

8. Annual Estimates of the revenue and expenditure of the Colony will be prepared by the Government Secretary and submitted to the Governor at such a date as will admit of their consideration by the Combined Court before the beginning of the year to which the Estimates relate. The Government Secretary will obtain the necessary materials for framing the Estimates from the Receiver General and other heads of departments in time to admit of this rule being complied with.

9. The Estimates will contain four columns (two for details and two for totals), showing against each item of revenue or expenditure the amount estimated for the coming year and the amount of the approved estimate of the current year. Where the expenditure of a department is provided partly by annual votes and partly by a civil list or special law, the amount provided by law will appear in a fifth (inner) column, the total of which should be added to that of the items not so provided. The Estimates will thus show under each head every item which is expected to come in course of payment during the year of estimate, including not only those which are submitted to the Combined Court for discussion and appropriation, but also those which, being already provided, are included in the Estimates for information only. The law authorizing the provided expenditure should be named in each case.

10. The abstracts preceding the body of the Estimates will show the totals of all the heads in the Estimates and will have four columns, one for the actual revenue or expenditure of the last completed year, one for the approved Estimates of the current year, one for the revised estimates of the same, and one for the estimated revenue or expenditure of the coming year.

11. The Estimates of Revenue should include the gross receipts of the Colonial Government, other than re-payments of advances, proceeds of loans appropriated by law for special works or of sales of investments, deposits or remittances. They should include all fees, dues, fines and rents payable into the Colonial Treasury, any amounts payable to officers in respect of such receipts being provided for in the estimates of expenditure under the sub-divisions entitled "Personal Emoluments."

12. The Revenue should be arranged under comprehensive heads; e.g. :—

- i. Customs.
- ii. Port, Harbour and Light Dues, etc.
- iii. Excise and Licences.
- iv. Internal Revenue not otherwise classified.
- v. Fines, Fees of Court or Office, Payments for specific services and Re-imbursements in Aid.
- vi. Post Office Telegraphs and Telephones.
- vii. Rents.
- viii. Forests and Mines.
 - a. Forests.
 - b. Mines.
- ix. Interest.
- x. Miscellaneous.

Total ordinary revenue

Sale of Crown Lands.

Sale of Colony Lands.

Premiums on Grants, Leases, etc.

Refund of Loans made by the Colony.

Each of these heads may comprise several sub-heads, but no sub-head shall comprise items coming under other heads.

13. The proceeds of the sale of Government lands and premiums on leases should be kept distinct in the Estimates from the total revenue from other sources.

14. There should be no head for "Arrears of Revenue." Interest received on arrears of revenue should be brought to account under the same head as the revenue on which the arrears accrued.

15. The Estimates of Expenditure should be framed so as to show as nearly as possible the amounts which it is expected will actually be spent during the year. No deductions will be made from the total of the Estimates, or of any head on account of probable savings on salaries owing to the absence of officers on leave, or on account of any general presumption that the expenditure will be kept within the Estimate.

16. Each head of department is responsible that all services that can be reasonably foreseen are included in his departmental estimate and that no unauthorized increase of salary is inserted therein.

17. Under the heading for each department there will be two sub-divisions—"Personal Emoluments" and "Other Charges."

18. All items whatsoever of personal emoluments to public officers will appear under "Personal Emoluments," which will, therefore, include (besides salaries) personal, duty, entertainment and house allowances, allowances in lieu of quarters, fuel and light, clothing allowances paid in money, fees and per centages or commissions. Each allowance will be described in a separate line, and not included with the salary, but the whole of the personal emoluments of each officer in respect of each department will be shown together. All salaries on the Fixed Establishment shall appear in a separate column "Fixed Establishment."

19. Where salaries are increased by regular increments, the minimum and maximum salaries, with the increment, should be stated within brackets, the amount payable within the year being inserted in the estimate.

20. Where an officer receives emoluments under more than one head the fact will be indicated by cross references or explanatory footnotes. Any pension or compensation allowance, or other emolument in respect of public service, including the provision of an official residence, will be similarly shown.

21. Allowances made in reimbursement of public expenses, such as horse or forage allowances, travelling allowances, and allowances for office or clerical expenses will, however, be placed under "Other Charges."

22. The sub-division "Other Charges" will include all services other than personal emoluments which can be properly apportioned to the particular department.

23. Every head of expenditure will include, as far as possible, all the items relating to the particular department, so as to show clearly the total estimated cost of that department during the year. Where, however, services of a general character cannot be divided and charged to different departments, they will be provided for in separate sub-heads under the head "Miscellaneous."

24. The total Personal Emoluments of each department will make up one sub-head and small items under "Other Charges" not of a distinctive character may be grouped under a sub-head of "Incidental Expenses." Items not so grouped will be shown as separate sub-heads.

25. No items of receipt or expenditure will be included under the head "Miscellaneous" which can appropriately be placed under any other head, and, if necessary, new sub-heads will be opened for any such items.

26. No head should be allotted to "Rent" in the estimate of expenditure, as all payments for offices, houses or allowances for quarters will be provided for in the votes for the particular departments concerned.

27. Provision under general heads of expenditure should be made for such expenditure only as cannot accurately be apportioned to any particular department.

28. No provision is to be made for "Unforeseen Expenditure"; and any item for "Contingencies" or for "Miscellaneous" under the head "Miscellaneous" should be strictly confined to petty and casual charges which are foreseen, but which are too unimportant to be provided for separately.

29. New heads or sub-heads should be opened for items of receipt or expenditure not properly falling within any of those already appearing in the Estimates.

30. The total estimated expenditure of the year should not be allowed to exceed the total estimated revenue, exclusive of land sales, except where such excess is caused by provision for extraordinary public works to be met out of surplus balances. In case of an excess a footnote should explain in what manner it is to be met.

31. The estimates of the charges of Public Debt should be arranged in the chronological order of the loans provided for. In the case of large revenue-yielding undertakings, the first cost of which has been defrayed by a loan, the annual charges for interest and sinking fund should, if it can conveniently be done, be so set out as to show the annual charge in respect of each such undertaking.

32. There will be two heads for public works in addition to that for the establishment of the Public Works Department. All annually recurrent services will be placed under the first of these heads: other works to be paid for out of general revenue or surplus balances under the second. The three heads of expenditure administered by the Public Works Department ("Public Works Department," "Public Works Annually Recurrent," and "Public Works Extraordinary") should be arranged consecutively in the Estimates and Abstract.

33. In the case of works not annually recurrent which will extend over more than one year, there should be shown not only the estimate for the year, but also the original estimate for the whole work, the revised estimate (if any), the total amount actually expended so far as accounts are complete, and the total amount likely to have been expended on the work up to the beginning of the year of estimate.

34. Where the cost of any public works is to be met by loan, and it is anticipated that the loan funds will be available within the year of estimate, the anticipated expenditure on such works will not appear in the body of the estimates; but a full statement of such expenditure, containing the particulars mentioned in the preceding Regulation and including a schedule showing the salaries of any staff specially engaged, should be appended to the general Estimates. Moneys raised by way of loan shall be expended exclusively for such purposes as shall be authorised by the Combined Court, and not for any others. If the loan funds are not immediately available and the expenditure is to be met out of current revenue or surplus balances, and to be re-paid in a subsequent year when the contemplated loan has been raised, provision must be made in the Estimates under a separate head of expenditure following and distinct from the total of other expenditure. The charge will be brought to account accordingly, pending reimbursement. Such expenditure will not be charged as an advance nor appear as an asset in the balance sheet.

35. The Estimates should be accompanied by explanations respecting every item of an unusual nature therein comprised and of the difference under each item between the proposed expenditure or anticipated revenue, and the approved estimate for the preceding year, as shown in the parallel columns.

36. The Estimates should be accompanied by the statement of the assets and liabilities of the colony at the close of the last completed year of account, and a statement, partly estimated, of the assets and liabilities at the beginning of the year of estimate.

37. Sums which have been voted by the Combined Court for the service of the year under each head of expenditure in the Estimates, will be set out in an abstract of the Estimates. In cases of expenditure in excess of these sums, only the net excess on each head will require to be embodied in the abstract of the Supplementary Estimates, but accounts, showing the excesses and savings on each sub-head of those heads, should be laid before the Combined Court with the Supplementary Estimates.

38. When the annual Estimates have been passed by the Combined Court, the expenditure of the year must be held to be definitely limited and arranged. Should any further disbursements on account of the service of that year be required, which could not have been foreseen, cannot be postponed without detriment to the public service, and cannot be met out of savings under the proper sub-heads of the Estimates, a Supplementary Estimate of the expenditure so required, will, at the earliest opportunity, and, if possible, before any expenditure is incurred, be submitted to the Combined Court and a vote obtained. If such further expenditure should cause an excess on the appropriation voted under any head of the Estimates, the amount of such excess should be ultimately covered by a Supplementary Estimate.

III.—RECEIPTS.

39. All receipts must be vouched for on the form prescribed.

40. Except when otherwise provided and in cases when receipts are not required (such as Customs duties or sale of stamps) accounting officers must give receipts from books of counterfoil forms bearing printed consecutive numbers, for every sum paid to them. Where such a check can be obtained the counterfoils should be signed by the payers and, in cases in which dues are payable by adhesive stamps, the stamp must be effectually cancelled by the receiving officer or the head of his department. Numbered counterfoil receipt books will be supplied by the Receiver General, who will be responsible for their custody, and to whom the counterfoils will be returned when the receipt forms are exhausted. Counterfoil books should not be cut or divided.

41. All licences, permits, certificates, passage orders and other documents for which payments are made will be issued from counterfoil books printed with consecutive numbers.

42. Court fees, licences, and similar receipts should be collected by means of stamps. In such cases the stamps will, whenever practicable, be affixed by the person paying in such revenue and effectually cancelled by the proper officer. The cancellation should whenever possible be performed by an officer other than the officer employed to sell the stamps.

43. All officers, other than the Receiver General and the sub-accountants, who receive in their public capacity any duties, taxes, licences, fees, rents, or other money forming a portion of the colonial revenue, are required to pay the whole amount of such money, daily or at the earliest possible opportunity, either into the bank to the credit of the Receiver General, or into the Treasury, or to the sub-accountant for the district.

44. In all cases the gross amounts due must be collected and paid into, or accounted for to, the Treasury. No abatements or counter-claims are to be admitted except in respect of commission to auctioneers, which will be dealt with by deduction from the amounts realized by sales by auction, the net proceeds only being brought to credit. Any other charges upon the revenue, such as percentages on collection or postage and money order commissions, will require authority, and should appear as expenditure, supported by proper vouchers.

45. Between the time of receipt and the time of payment into the bank, Treasury, or sub-Treasury, no public money shall be made use of in any way whatsoever; nor will any officer advance, lend or exchange any sum for which he is answerable to the Government.

46. Bills of Exchange or cheques will not be received as revenue, except under such conditions as the Governor may prescribe by standing order. When so authorized, accounting officers, on the receipt of any such negotiable instrument, will enter the amount thereof in their cash books as revenue collected, taking credit for the same when handed over to the Receiver General.

47. All fees received by an officer in his public capacity, which are specially appropriated, either wholly or in part, to the remuneration of such officer, and which form part of his pensionable emoluments, will be dealt with in the same manner as other receipts of public money, and the total amount paid into or accounted for to the Treasury. The amount to which the officer is entitled will then be issued to him, on a proper voucher, by the Receiver General. In all cases where any portion of such fees is receivable by the Government the total sum collected will be brought to account as revenue, the amount paid to the officer being charged as expenditure against the proper head, under "Personal Emoluments." Where the Government is not entitled to any portion of such fees and they are not a pensionable emolument, the officers receiving them will be required to make a monthly report of their amount for record in the Treasury. The estimated amounts receivable as fees by any officer should be shown in footnotes to the annual Estimates.

48. Payments to the Treasury or to sub-accountants by collectors of revenue will be supported in each case by such subsidiary detailed schedules or abstracts as the Receiver General may prescribe, together with a transcript of the cash book or where possible the cash book itself. In the latter case the Receiver General or sub-accountant will sign on the cash book a receipt for the amount taken over, which will be the full balance shown. He will at the same time check the cash book, or transcript thereof, by the counterfoils of the receipt given by the collector, and no collector will be paid any portion of his salary until he has accounted for all money received by him.

49. Whenever a public officer not being a regular collector of revenue comes into receipt of public money, he will pay it to the Receiver General or the nearest sub-accountant without delay, obtaining a receipt for the amount so paid in.

50. Should an accounting officer at any time experience difficulty in collecting money due from public officers or others, he will at once report the circumstances officially.

51. In every case in which an accounting officer shall fail to obtain the regular and punctual payment of public money, receivable by him, his salary may be surcharged with the amount due, unless and until he shall show that the failure was occasioned by a cause beyond his control; and if, when such a surcharge is made, the amount in default be not ascertainable from the vouchers and accounts furnished, the salary of the officer will not be paid until he has furnished to the Receiver General a satisfactory statement of the amount due.

52. In case it shall appear, at any time, that the public revenue has sustained a loss by reason of the neglect or wilful fault of any head of a Department or other accounting officer, he will be surcharged with the amount and the circumstances reported to the Governor.

53. The Receiver General will report immediately to the Government Secretary whenever any sum receivable appears not to have been duly received by an accounting officer, or accounted for by him. He will also report any case in which he may have reason to think that the revenue is falling unduly into arrear. The Auditor General will similarly report in like circumstances.

54. All officers charged with the supervision of the collection of revenue will furnish the Auditor General with periodical returns showing the state of the arrears in the collection of taxes or any other revenue receivable by them. In the event of there being no such arrears a nil return will be furnished.

55. In cases of arrears due by particular individuals, in which the necessity or justification for writing them off depends upon local circumstances, and when no question is involved either of large amount, of important or novel principle, or of the negligence of an accounting officer, the Government Secretary or other officer appointed by law to deal with such claims will from time to time furnish to the Auditor General a list of cases in which it has been decided to write off such arrears, with the reason for so doing entered against each case. Unless the Auditor General sees cause to challenge the decision in any case, this list will be accepted as a valid discharge for the accounting officer in respect of the non-collection of any amount specified thereon.

IV.—EXPENDITURE.

56. All disbursements of public money in the Colony will be made by the Receiver General under authority from the Governor, either personally or by officers acting by instruction, as his sub-accountants. The Receiver General and all accounting officers will be held personally and pecuniarily responsible for inaccuracies in the rendering of accounts and for any payments made, except as prescribed by these regulations. Disbursements in England will be made by the Crown Agents, whose accounts will, as soon as received, be incorporated by the Receiver General in his monthly accounts.

57. Where a bank account is kept, all payments of not less than $10 will be made by cheques signed by the Receiver General, or other officer authorised by the Governor, and countersigned by such other departmental officer as may be appointed by the Governor to do so. The Governor will, if he sees fit, appoint a lower or higher limit. The counterfoils of all cheques will be preserved for reference.

58. Any officer allowing or directing any disbursement without proper authority will be held personally responsible for the amount.

59. The complete authority requisite for expenditure out of public funds consists of a vote of the Combined Court. The authority thus conveyed is addressed solely to the Governor, and the Receiver General is strictly prohibited from making any payments, or accepting any charge on his accounts (notwithstanding that the services to which they relate may be duly provided for in the Estimates), unless authorized so to do by—

- (i.) General Warrant under the hand of the Governor or of the Government Secretary signing "by command";
- (ii.) Special warrant, or Imprest warrant;
- (iii.) Requisition, approved by the Governor.

60. Before the termination of each year a complete schedule will be prepared by the Receiver General of all public services, as provided for in the Estimates for the following year. This schedule will be annexed to the general warrant of the Governor, authorizing the payment by the Receiver General monthly, or at such periods as may be necessary during the year, of the personal emoluments and other services of a uniform character therein enumerated. This general warrant will be prepared in triplicate and copies filed in the Government Secretary's Office, the Treasury and the Audit Office.

61. Vouchers for all salaries, allowances and other services scheduled in the general warrant and payable by the Receiver General will be delivered duly certified by the heads of departments to the Receiver General five clear days at least before the last day of public business in each month. Any vouchers delivered after the date prescribed will be liable to be held over until the pay day of the following month. All officers are required to draw their salaries, allowances or pensions on the day appointed, and any officer failing to do so will not be allowed to draw his salary, allowance or pension until the next pay day, unless he can show that the omission was unavoidable. In the last month of each financial year the vouchers for salaries, allowances and pensions should be delivered not later than the 21st of that month.

62. All travelling, boat, horse, vehicle and similar allowances are granted in respect of expenditure actually incurred on the public service, no part being intended as a personal emolument to any officer. In the case of allowances for boat, horse, vehicle and the like, the head of the department will certify on each claim that the means of locomotion specified has been kept, or sub-vouchers for the hire thereof will be appended where such hire is approved.

63. In the event of any unauthorized payment being made in consequence of an incorrect certificate on a voucher, the certifying officer will be held responsible for the same, and the amount will be charged against him as an advance recoverable out of any salary or allowance that may subsequently accrue to his credit.

64. In the case of any addition being made to the rates or amounts of expenditure authorized in the general warrant, a special warrant will be necessary before any further payment can be made for the service affected. Special warrants will also be required for all payments on account of services not included in the Estimates, even though provided by law, and for payments in excess of the amounts so included. Such warrants shall be prepared and filed in triplicate, as in the case of the general warrant, and copies supplied to the same offices.

65. When an officer considers it necessary to provide for a service for which there is no specific provision in the general warrant, he will, as soon as possible and before incurring the expenditure, submit a requisition in triplicate stating the whole extent and estimated cost of the service required, and giving all details, as far as he is able. In the case of any public works, plans, specifications, tenders and estimates, as far as practicable, should accompany the requisition. Separate requisitions will be required for expenditure under each sub-head of service.

66. The head of the department responsible for the vote to which the expenditure is to be charged will examine the requisition, fill in from his departmental vote account the statement of expenditure already incurred or authorized under the vote, countersign it, and forward it to the Receiver General, for submission to the Governor.

67. It is the duty of the Receiver General on receipt of a requisition to satisfy himself that the expenditure for which authority is required is sufficiently provided for on the estimates, or by supplementary vote or votes, and that it is proposed to be charged against the proper head and sub-head; that the particulars given in the requisition are accurate and sufficient for the guidance of the Governor in considering the propriety of the expenditure, and that all regulations which may affect the duty of the officer concerned in respect of the requisition have been complied with. He will obtain from the officer any information that may be necessary for the assistance of the Governor, and will return the requisition for amendment, if incomplete or indefinite. In forwarding the requisition the Receiver General will advise as to the funds available for meeting the proposed expenditure, having due regard to the whole of the services which appear likely to be chargeable against the vote in the course of the year. Two copies of the requisition, with the Governor's allowance or disallowance noted thereon, will be returned to the officer from whom it was received, with the Governor's instructions. If approved it will be sufficient authority for the expenditure to be incurred, and one copy will be attached to the account in which the first charge is made by virtue of such authority. The other copy will be retained by the officer for record and reference.

68. Should the expenditure authorized upon any requisition be found insufficient, the head of the department requiring authority for further expenditure will, so soon as he foresees the necessity therefor, forward to the Receiver General a supplementary requisition for such further expenditure, drawn up in the same form as the original requisition, and accompanied by a memorandum explaining the necessity for the excess.

69. In any exceptional case where it is manifestly for the benefit of the public service that expenditure should be immediately incurred, and time does not permit of authority being obtained in the usual way, an officer may, on his own responsibility, incur the expenditure; but he will at once forward a requisition as above provided with a covering memorandum explaining the reasons which induced him to depart from the ordinary course. In every such case he will be held personally liable for the expenditure in the event of the payment not being finally approved; and any items which may appear unnecessary or extravagant will be disallowed and surcharged against him.

70. At the end of each month heads of departments will call upon persons employed for the supply of authorized services to furnish their accounts on the proper forms. All claims, supported by particulars, and sub-vouchers if any, and duly certified by the head of the department, should be sent to the Receiver General as soon as possible after the end of the month.

71. Separate vouchers will, as far as possible, be used for separate sub-heads and for the payment of different services, especially in cases where each service has been separately authorized.

72. All vouchers will contain full particulars of each service, such as dates, numbers, quantities, distances, and rates, so as to enable them to be checked without reference to any other document.

73. The signature of the head of a department certifies to the accuracy of every detail on the voucher. He will therefore be held responsible that the services specified have been duly performed, that the prices charged are either according to contracts or approved scales, or fair and reasonable according to current local rates, that authority has been obtained as quoted, that the computations and castings have been verified and are arithmetically correct, and that the persons named in the vouchers are those entitled to receive payment.

74. When supplies are furnished or work done under agreement or contract, there will be attached to the voucher a certificate that the payments are in accordance with the terms of the contract or agreement, that, as regards supplies, the articles have been received and duly brought on charge in the proper Stores Ledger, and in the case of work, that it has been properly done. In the case of a payment on account no more will be claimed than the cost of the work certified to have been performed. When a deduction is made from the amount payable on a contract in respect of a penalty or fine, the net sum only will be paid.

75. In cases where public officers present claims for small payments made by them, sub-vouchers, in the shape of actual receipts, must be produced whenever practicable. When sub-vouchers cannot be obtained the officer will certify that the charges have been incurred solely upon the public service and actually paid by him.

76. Wages may be paid weekly, fortnightly or as arranged. Payments will, whenever possible, be made in the presence of two witnesses (Public Officers if possible) in addition to the paying officer, all of whom will sign the paysheets. It will be the duty of such persons to see that the payments are made to the persons entitled to the money. In the event of any payment not being made the name and amount will be struck out. The total amount actually paid will be written in words at the foot of the paysheet. In no case should money be paid to unofficial persons for distribution in wages.

77. The Receiver General, before paying any claim, will satisfy himself that—

- (i.) The expenditure has been authorized by warrant or approved requisition, as quoted on the voucher ;
- (ii.) The certificate is signed by the proper officer, and that any voucher for salaries, allowances, and other services paid under General Warrant is duly certified by the head of the department ;
- (iii.) All proper deductions from salaries or pensions on account of contributions, repayment of advances, family remittances or other liabilities have been duly made by the department concerned.

Sub-accountants making payments for the Receiver General will similarly satisfy themselves in regard to these points.

78. Payment will be made only to the persons named in the vouchers, or their legal representatives, from whom signed receipts (duly stamped, where necessary) must be taken at the time of payment. Where the recipient is unable to write, he will make his mark in acknowledgment of receipt, the act being witnessed and the receipt countersigned by two persons other than the paying officer. When payments are made to persons other than those named in the vouchers or to the agents of officers absent on leave, the authorities under which they are made (such as powers of attorney, and letters of administration), shall be registered in the Treasury and notified on the vouchers, except where the law permits of a declaration being substituted for letters of administration in cases of succession to small estates. In the case of an officer absent on leave, the amount of whose salary is paid to his agent, a certificate that the officer was alive on the date to which salary is claimed must be furnished to the Receiver General and attached to the payment voucher. When an alteration occurs in the amount expressed to be received, the initials of the recipient should be written against such alteration. A receipt given by an officer for money paid to him by way of imprest, or in adjustment of an account where he derives no personal benefit therefrom, is not, unless specially required by law, chargeable with stamp duty. Payments of subsistence and other allowances in reimbursement of expenses actually incurred are likewise exempt.

V.—CLASSIFICATION AND CONTROL.

79. The Estimates, when approved by the Combined Court, form the basis of the accounts of the year to which they relate, and the classification and sub-division of the accounts of revenue and expenditure must accord with the detail of the Estimates ; but, if the latter are wrongly arranged or misleading, the facts should be noted by the head of the department concerned and reported to the Government Secretary with a view to their alteration in subsequent years.

80. It is the duty of heads of departments to watch the expenditure of their departments with reference to the amounts provided for them in the Estimates, and to report at once to the Government Secretary whenever it may appear that the amounts provided will prove insufficient for the service of the year. Whenever the Receiver General makes any charge against a vote by transfer from the Crown Agents' account or the account of another department, he will immediately notify the head of the department responsible for the vote, who will post his vote account accordingly.

81. If charges are made against a head, which, although apparently chargeable to that head, do not clearly come within the meaning of any of the sub-heads, they should be brought by the Auditor General under the notice of the head of the department concerned and of the Government Secretary, with a view to the insertion of an additional sub-head in the account.

82. The authority of the Governor will be required for defraying any excess of expenditure beyond the amount provided under any sub-head out of savings on another sub-head; and, if the total provision for the head is exceeded, supplementary legislative authority will also be required.

83. The authority for expenditure provided in the Estimates or Supplementary Estimates, lapses at the end of the financial year to which it relates, and if further expenditure is necessary for the completion of any service it must be provided for in the Estimates or Supplementary Estimates of the year in which the sum will actually be expended. The authority conveyed by warrants and requisitions similarly lapses on the last day of the financial year in which they are issued and no payments may be made after that date, except under the authority of warrants or requisitions issued for the service of the ensuing financial year.

84. The date of payment governs the date of the record of the charge in the accounts. In no circumstances may payments be made before they are due for the purpose of utilizing an anticipated saving on a sub-head, nor may the unexpended portion of any sub-head be drawn from the Treasury for the purpose of setting it in reserve to meet impending payments, or be carried to a deposit or suspense account. On the other hand, expenditure properly chargeable to the account of a given year must, as far as possible, be met within the year, and must not be deferred for the purpose of avoiding an excess on the amount provided in the Estimates.

85. Where any officer, department or board administers on behalf of the Government any commercial or industrial enterprise, or any service involving receipts and payments, the whole of such receipts and payments shall be accounted for to the Receiver General, and their total amount exhibited in his monthly and annual accounts; and the estimates of the department will be prepared accordingly. Where a strict observance of this regulation is considered impracticable it may be relaxed with the previous sanction of the Governor-in-Council.

86. When a personal advance in anticipation of salary is allowed, it will be debited as an advance to the recipient and not to the vote for his salary. Any advance made to an officer is to be notified by the Receiver General to the head of his department, who will take care that proper arrangements are made for repayment and that no salary is subsequently paid unless such arrangements have been made and are complied with.

87. The purchase and sale of securities will be included in the accounts "below the line," that is to say, following after and distinct from the entries relating to revenue and to expenditure charged against revenue. Amounts realized by the sale of securities will be brought to account under Investments realized and no record of any profit or loss in relation to the purchase price will be made except in the case of a sale of investments on account of surplus balances, when any resulting profit will be carried to current revenue and any loss charged to expenditure. In all other cases the difference between the purchase and sale prices will be left in or borne by the balance of the fund in respect of which the investment was made.

88. The authority of the Governor is required for writing off any loss of public money and, subject to the provisions of these regulations, of any amount which has appeared as an asset in previous accounts.

VI.—REMITTANCES.

89. All payments due by the Government to other Governments, or to public departments or other creditors in the United Kingdom, will be made through the Crown Agents for the Colonies, except when otherwise specially authorized.

90. The Crown Agents will keep themselves continuously in funds by arranging to draw when necessary on the Receiver General, whose duty it is to watch the account of the Colony with the Crown Agents, to be prepared to meet their drafts, and to notify them in good time if local circumstances make it necessary to arrange for temporary accommodation in aid of the Government's account with them.

91. The maximum cash balance which may be retained by sub-accountants will be calculated upon their average current requirements and fixed by authority of the Governor, and the Receiver General will keep such balances up to their authorized limits.

92. Remittances to public creditors other than those made through the Crown Agents will be made only by the Government Secretary, who for such purpose will be furnished by the Receiver General with a draft payable to the order of the creditor concerned.

93. The cost of remittance of salaries or pensions not drawn through an agent of the Colony will be deducted from the amount remitted.

94. If it is necessary for any officer other than a sub-accountant to have at his disposal, for disbursement on the public service, money for which vouchers cannot be presented direct to the Receiver General or a sub-accountant for payment, he will receive an imprest of such amount as the Governor may sanction.

95. The Governor's sanction will be conveyed by Imprest Warrant, and the Receiver General will be held responsible that no imprest is made without such warrant, and also for seeing that all imprests are duly accounted for in accordance with the terms of the warrant covering them. The Governor may give a general Imprest Warrant to the Receiver General authorizing him to make imprests, as may be necessary, for any regularly recurrent service.

96. Imprests are not to be charged in the accounts as final expenditure, the actual payments only, out of such imprests, being so charged. Cash payments made by the Receiver General or his sub-accountants by way of imprest will be entered in the cash-book and totalled with the rest of the payments in balancing it. Imprests will not be treated by the Receiver General as "Advances" or "Remittances" but will be accounted for, below the line, under a separate head "Imprests." The imprests and the amounts of the authorized payments accounted for will be posted to a personal imprest account of the officer concerned which will be kept in a special Imprest Ledger.

VII.—CUSTODY OF PUBLIC MONEY AND STORES.

97. The Receiver General may, with the approval of the Governor, avail himself of the services of any banks in the Colony for the custody of public money either on current account or on deposit. He will be responsible for seeing that effect is given to any instructions from the Governor for limiting the amount of public money that may be at any one time in the custody of a bank. It will be the duty of the Auditor General to report at once to the Governor for the information of the Secretary of State, if he should find that the prescribed limit has been exceeded.

98. A secure fireproof vault or safe will be provided for the custody of money not in the charge of a bank. The door of such vault or safe will be furnished with three different locks, the keys of which will be kept in the personal charge of the Receiver General and such two other officers of the Government as the Governor may appoint.

99. All cash received by public officers will be deposited as soon as possible in the safe or vault provided for the purpose, or paid into a bank, to an account under the officer's official designation. Negligence in this respect will throw the entire responsibility for any loss upon the officer concerned. No public officer shall keep or allow to be kept in any Government safe under his charge any money except public money or such as by virtue of his office he is bound to receive and account for.

100. Where public money is deposited in a bank, the Receiver General and the sub-accountants so instructed will pay into the bank, at the close of business on each day, all public money received by them up to that time. Private money will in no circumstances be included in a public banking account.

101. The Receiver General's bank account must not be overdrawn, nor any temporary advance obtained from the bank, without the special sanction in writing of the Governor.

102. The main stock of stamps, both postage and revenue, will be kept in the safe or vault appointed for that purpose. A stock book will be kept, in which will be entered under each denomination, the number and value of stamps received and issued; and this book, on each occasion of either a receipt or issue, will be initialled by the Commissioner of Stamps and by any other officer appointed to have joint charge of stamps with him. Stamps will be issued on requisition and a receipt taken from the officer to whom they are issued.

103. Boards of Survey, to be held on the last business day of each year, will be appointed by the Governor to examine the Treasury cash, bank balances and stamps, both at headquarters and as far as practicable at the outstations. Boards will also be appointed from time to time to hold surprise surveys of the cash and stamps in the custody of the Receiver General and his sub-accountants.

104. Officers entrusted with the receipt, custody or disbursement of public money who are required by the Governor to give security for the faithful discharge of their duty shall do so in accordance with the Public Officers' Guarantee Fund Ordinance.

VIII.—ACCOUNTS AND BOOKKEEPING.

105. Every entry in the accounts will be supported by a voucher containing full particulars of the item or items to which it relates.

106. The Receiver General will keep in his office the following principal books of account:—Cash Book, Daily Abstract, Journal, Ledger, and Monthly Abstract; together with such subsidiary books as may be necessary.

107. In the Cash Book will be entered all cash transactions as they occur. The entries will be numbered consecutively, on each side of the book, in the order of the receipts or payments and corresponding numbers will be affixed to the supporting vouchers. The Cash Book will be balanced at the close of each day, and the balance shown compared with the cash in hand. If the balances do not agree, the discrepancy will forthwith be investigated by the Receiver General. If they agree, a certificate will be filled in by the officer in charge of the Cash Book, showing the opening cash and bank balances, the receipts and payments for the day and the closing balances. This certificate will be countersigned by the Receiver General and sent to the Government Secretary next morning, or as often as may be prescribed by the Governor.

108 Every sub-accountant will keep a cash book, in which he will enter all sums of money received or paid by him as a public officer, for whatever service, whether they form a part of the colonial revenue or not. He will balance his cash book weekly at least and check the balance with the money in his hands. Officers having large financial responsibility will be required to balance their cash books daily.

109. The Daily Abstract will be posted by an officer or officers other than the officer in charge of the Treasury Cash Book, when the Treasury staff permits of this arrangement. The posting will be done every morning from the vouchers put in on the previous day and checked by comparison with the Cash Book.

110. The accounts of the various sub-accountants and of the Crown Agents will be abstracted as soon as they are received below the record of the transactions of the Receiver General for the period to which they relate.

111. In the Journal will be entered, from day to day, all adjustments authorized to be made between the various ledger accounts; and also, at the close of each month, any adjustments appearing in the accounts rendered by sub-accountants.

112. As soon after the end of each month as the sub-accountants' accounts have been abstracted the entries in the Daily Abstract will be totalled, and the totals for each head of the Estimates or Ledger Account be posted into the Journal. The totals of the other entries which have been made in the Journal for the month will then be posted into the Daily Abstract; the expenditure credits (including recoveries of overpayments) will be deducted from the expenditure, and the revenue debits from the revenue; and the resulting totals will be entered in the Monthly Abstract.

113. The Ledger will be posted monthly from the Journal. It will contain one account for revenue and one for expenditure, an account of surplus and deficit, accounts of loan funds, of advances, deposits, drafts and remittances and of every fund in the custody of the Government, and such other accounts as the Governor of the Colony shall approve. A trial balance of the Ledger will be made as soon as each month's account has been posted, and a summary of the balance sheet under its principal divisions, but excluding the balances of the accounts of funded debt and sinking funds, will be published in the "Official Gazette." This summary will form the statement of the General Assets and Liabilities of the Government, and show the excess of Assets over Liabilities as a balance identical with the balance of the Surplus and Deficit Account.

114. The Surplus and Deficit account will be posted exclusively from the accounts of revenue and expenditure, and will accordingly furnish the accurate record of the balance between them, from month to month and from year to year.

115. The Monthly Abstract will be posted from the totals in the Daily Abstract, as soon as they have been completed for the month.

116. The Receiver General will keep a subsidiary Journal, in which will be recorded the details of transfers between heads and sub-heads, and of other transactions which cannot be shown in the principal Journal and Ledger.

117. Every head of a department will keep a Departmental Vote Account in such form as will clearly show at any time the exact amount of expenditure charged against the vote or votes for his department, and also the expenditure authorized to be incurred.

IX.—AUDIT.

118. Copies of the reports of all Boards of Survey on the various Treasury Chests will be forwarded by the Receiver General to the Auditor General, together with the certificates signed by the Managers of the Banks of the bank balances on the day of survey.

119. As soon as possible after the expiration of each year, the Receiver General will furnish an Annual Abstract Account showing the whole of the receipts and payments in the year, and the full opening and closing balances.

120. The Annual Abstract Account will be accompanied by detailed statements of revenue and expenditure, showing the amounts actually received or expended during the year as compared with the estimates under each sub-head, together with explanations of the differences.

121. With the Annual Account, there will also be furnished the Statement of the Assets and Liabilities of the Colony at the close of the year, together with the following documents :—

- (a.) A statement of Advances and Repayments of Advances within the year ;
- (b.) A statement of Deposits received and repaid within the year ;
- (c.) A statement of Investments, showing the amount of stock held on the last day of the year, together with the actual cost and the market value at that date ;
- (d.) A statement of the outstanding amount of funded debt or loans, and of any accumulated sinking fund.

122. As soon as possible after the 31st December each year, the Postmaster General will furnish a statement of the Receipts, issues, balances in hand and the assets and liabilities of the Savings Bank showing separately the revenue derived from Savings Bank investments the interest credited to depositors, and the expenses of the management of the institution.

123. The Auditor General is responsible for the audit and inspection of all public accounts of the Government, whether such accounts be of general revenue and expenditure, or accounts of special funds or departmental accounts.

124. He will satisfy himself that the laws of the Colony, the Colonial Regulations, and the instructions of the Governor in all matters of finance and account, are strictly observed, and will bring to the notice of the Governor any failure in their observance.

125. He will from time to time examine the cash books and compare the entries with the various receipt and payment vouchers; he will also from time to time examine the Journal and follow the entries into the Ledger in order to ascertain that they are correctly and punctually posted. He will periodically scrutinize the bank pass books; and he will compare the bank balance, as shown in the Ledger and in the Cash Book, with the actual balance at the bank.

126. He will examine and check the subsidiary books and the accounts of the authorized imprests and advances, and ascertain whether such imprests and advances are punctually accounted for and repaid. In the event of any imprest having been made to an officer without special authorization, before a previous imprest has been accounted for, he will report the fact to the Governor. He will at once report any unauthorized advance to any officer or account or any other unauthorized disbursement appearing in the books. In his examination of the deposit accounts he will ascertain that all deposits which have remained unclaimed for five years are, in the absence of special reasons to the contrary, written off to revenue.

127. He will call attention to any apparent neglect in the collection of arrears of revenue. He will see that proper records are kept of all rents receivable and that an efficient system exists for their due collection and for ensuring that they are regularly brought to account.

128. He will check the counterfoils of receipt books and will see that the pages of all such books bear printed consecutive numbers and that the books are intact. He will also satisfy himself that stamps used in payment of revenue are affixed to the proper documents and have been effectually cancelled in the authorized manner. He will also, by test examination of documents filed in previous years, ascertain that stamps have not been improperly removed therefrom.

129. He will promptly make such examination of the Customs vouchers as will satisfy him that the duty has been correctly calculated according to the Customs Law. In order to satisfy himself that the Customs revenue has been fully collected, he will ascertain that the examination of ships' manifests with the corresponding revenue vouchers is regularly and promptly carried out by the Customs Department, and he will also from time to time make a test examination of a certain number of examined manifests.

130. He will examine the Customs warehouse books and will also make occasional test surveys of the contents of the warehouses. He will satisfy himself by occasional examination of the contents of packages and comparison with the invoices, that due precautions are taken to prevent evasions of the Customs law.

131. He will examine the Excise vouchers and satisfy himself that the duty has been correctly computed. He will also examine the warehouse and Excise books and registers, and make occasional surprise surveys of the contents of warehouses and distillery stores.

132. He will examine tax rolls and assessment lists of rents, rates, land and house taxes, and other direct taxes and will, as far as possible, satisfy himself that all persons liable have been included, that the dues are promptly and fully collected and that warrants to levy have been issued when required and duly put into execution.

133. He will satisfy himself as to the due collection of school, hospital and dispensary fees, and similar revenue; and also the fees, fines and executions leviable by the Courts of law.

134. He will examine the monthly accounts of the Post Office, and will satisfy himself that the adjustment of the accounts with the Post Offices of the United Kingdom and other countries is correctly carried out. He will examine the accounts of stamps, postal notes, money orders, post-cards, registered envelopes and all stamp forms in the hands of the various Postmasters, and will ascertain by the frequent inspection of stocks that the proceeds of sales are duly brought to account.

135. He will examine the Court accounts and will compare them with the books kept by the Registrars. He will also examine and compare with the Orders of Court the accounts of all money under the administration of the Court.

136. He will examine the accounts of the Savings Bank. In addition to the verification of all deposits and withdrawals, his examination will include, as far as possible, the comparison of the Bank ledgers with the pass books of the depositors. Interest due or paid to depositors will be checked in detail.

137. He will in all cases refer to the authorities regulating the expenditure provided for in the Estimates, and will see that the expenditure is in accordance therewith. In the case of expenditure which has not been provided for in the Estimates he will ascertain whether the necessary funds have been voted by the Combined Court. He will see that in every charge against a head the money expended has been applied to the purpose or purposes for which such head was intended to provide, and that it is charged to the proper sub-head.

138. He will see that all vouchers are properly filled in, and are accompanied by such certificates, declarations, authorities, accounts of particulars, or other documents as may be required. In the case of authorities, certified copies or extracts may be accepted. He will verify castings and computations and will check rates and prices charged with the approved contracts or other authorities.

139. He will verify investments quarterly and will see that all dividends have been duly brought to account and all contributions to sinking funds duly invested.

140. He will, once a year, or more often if considered necessary, and also in all cases of new and temporary appointments, inspect the securities given by public officers in respect of pecuniary responsibility attaching to their offices as recorded in the books of the Public Officers' Guarantee Fund. He will ascertain that security has been furnished by every officer required to do so, and will also call attention to any cases where the securities may seem to be insufficient.

141. He will satisfy himself that adequate regulations exist for the guidance of store accountants.

142. His examination of store accounts will include test comparisons, at irregular intervals, between the stores in hand and the balances shown in the store-keepers' books, and he will satisfy himself that all stores purchased have been duly brought on charge. He will call attention to any excessive accumulation of stocks and will take care that no stores are written off charge without proper authority. He will also see that when stores are sold the proceeds are duly brought to account.

143. He will call upon the accounting officer for explanations of the cause of any undue delay in the rendering of accounts, or in furnishing any statements or returns that he may require, and, if the explanation is not satisfactory, will report the circumstances to the Governor.

144. If the Auditor General finds any irregularity in the books, cash, stamps or stores for which the head of a department is responsible he will at once notify the Governor. Should he find the books of any subordinate officer in an unsatisfactory state or discover any irregularity, he will at once notify the head of the department and, if the case be serious, report the circumstances to the Governor.

145. As soon as possible after the close of the financial year the Auditor General will prepare a report on the revenue and expenditure of the year, in which he will deal with the collection of the revenue, the state of the arrears, the manner in which the accounts of the colony are kept, the sufficiency of existing checks against fraud, the nature and extent of the audit applied, and any special questions arising out of the accounts.

146. The Governor will report forthwith for the decision of the Secretary of State any case in which he has overruled the maintained opinion of the Auditor General in any matter relating to the public accounts.

X.—SUPPLIES AND STORES.

147. Any supplies which may be procured in the Colony should be obtained by contract after public tender. If, however, no tenders are made or the Governor has ground for belief that the tenders sent in are collusive or unreasonable, other arrangements may be made. All tenders whether for supplies or services will be submitted to a Board of not less than three persons appointed by the Governor.

148. Every officer having in his charge or custody any articles which are public property will keep an inventory of the same.

149. Boards of Officers, which should not include the store-keeper of the stores to be surveyed, will be appointed by the Governor at the end of each year, and at such other times as may be necessary, to inspect and report upon Government stores; but this will not relieve heads of departments of their responsibility for satisfying themselves by occasional stock-taking that the balances on the ledger are actually in stock.

150. Articles will only be condemned as unserviceable on the report of a Board of Survey, except in the case of minor articles of a perishable nature, where the Governor may at his discretion dispense with a Board.

151. Unserviceable stores, if sold, will be disposed of by public auction or by tenders after public advertisement. If such stores are unsuitable for sale they must be destroyed.

152. Losses and deficiencies of stores may not in any case be written off without the authority of the Governor; but where such losses are caused by fraud or negligence, and it is desired to relieve the responsible officer of any part of his pecuniary liability, the authority of the Secretary of State will also be required.

XI.—RETURNS.

153. The Receiver General will furnish to the Governor the following periodical returns:—

(a.) ANNUALLY.

- (i.) An Abstract Account of the total revenue and expenditure of the year under each head of receipt and payment, showing the opening and closing balances in both the Receiver General's and Crown Agents' accounts;

155. Such forms as may from time to time be approved by the Governor shall be used in the carrying out of these Regulations.

156. The rules framed under the Audit Ordinance, No. 4 of 1884, passed and approved by the Governor-in-Council, on the 12th day of December, 1901, are hereby repealed.

These Rules and Regulations shall come into force on the first day of June, 1911.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARY'S OFFICE,
Georgetown, Demerara,

203.

18th April, 1911.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the publication, for general information, of the following despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies transmitting fresh Letters Patent passed under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, constituting the Office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of British Guiana.

By Command,

CHARLES T. COX,
Government Secretary.

DOWNING STREET,
6th March, 1911.

SIR,

I have the honour to transmit to you fresh Letters Patent which have been passed under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom constituting the office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Colony of British Guiana, together with the Royal Instructions accompanying them.

2. These Letters have been issued in order to supply the omission, in the Letters Patent now in force of specific provision in regard to the reservation of Bills by the Governor for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure and the manner in which Bills so reserved are to be brought into operation; and two new clauses (VI and VII) have been introduced for the purpose.

3. As the Letters Patent and Royal Instructions of the 12th of September, 1877, had already been amended on several occasions, it appeared advisable to issue fresh Instruments consolidating such of the provisions of the existing Instruments as are now in force, and at the same time to introduce such minor changes as are necessary to bring the Instruments generally into accord with the corresponding Instruments of more recent date relating to other Colonies.

4. I shall be glad to be informed in due course on what date the Letters Patent are proclaimed.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient, humble Servant,
(Sgd.) L. HARCOURT.

Governor Sir F. M. HODGSON, K.C.M.G., &c., &c., &c.

Proclamation.

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

LIMITED JURISDICTION.

THIS 19TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

TAT

versus

MAN-SON-HING.

This is an application by the plaintiff to review the taxation of the taxing officer who on taxation of plaintiff's Bill of Costs in the cross applications of the defendant and himself disallowed all costs incurred by plaintiff due to defendant's application for leave to appeal to the Privy Council.

The Order in Council of 10th January, 1910, rule 5 (a), provides that leave in the first instance shall only be granted upon condition of the appellant entering into good and sufficient security for the due prosecution of the appeal and the payment of all such costs as may become payable to the respondent in the event of the appellant not obtaining an order granting him final leave to appeal. This is precisely what happened in the present case. The appellant's application for final leave having been dismissed with costs by this Court on 6th December, 1910, no such provision however seems to have been inserted in the security bond executed when conditional leave was obtained.

With consent of parties there was taken together with the appellant's application for final leave to appeal, an application made by the plaintiff for an order to rescind the order granting conditional leave to the appellant to appeal and also that the appellant William Man-Son-Hing pay the costs of the appeal. In the last paragraph of the decision of the Court dealing with these cross applications the Court ordered the costs of these proceedings to be paid by the defendant and then proceeded to explain what was intended by this order, viz., "his application being dismissed with costs and the plaintiff's cross application being allowed with costs." As already pointed out this latter application included an order for the costs under review and in my opinion the plaintiff is entitled to have these costs taxed in the ordinary way. The Bill of Costs is referred back to the taxing officer with an intimation to this effect. The defendant must pay the costs of this application which is fixed at $10.

M. J. BERKELEY, J.

JOHNSON.

This is an application by the defendant to review the taxing officer's allowance of certain costs to the plaintiff who is a Barrister-at-law and appeared in person instructed by a solicitor.

The following items are objected to:—

Item 1.—Consultation and attendance on counsel and drawing application to expunge certain paragraphs in statement of defence and for further and better particulars, $3 and $8.

Item 2.—Fee to counsel settling application, $10.

Item 16.—Application of counsel on hearing application, $30.

The objection as to the second $8 in item 1, as well as the objection to item 16, on the ground that the sum allowed is excessive and unreasonable are not pressed by the solicitor for the defendant. There remains therefore to be dealt with the fee of $8 in item 1.

$10 in item 2.

$30 in item 16. All of which are objected to on the ground that counsel in the matter was the plaintiff himself and he is not entitled to be paid by himself for by the defendant either for consulting with himself or for work done by himself for himself.

According to Voet (3. 1. P. 7) an advocate who conducts his own cause may recover his fees if successful. The common law of this colony differs from the common law of England. According to the latter counsel cannot sue for his fees as a Solicitor can. This being so, a Barrister locally stands on the same footing in this respect as a Solicitor in England. In the case of London Scottish Benefit Society v. Chorley (13 Q.B.D. 872) it was held by the Court of Appeal confirming the Divisional Court that a Solicitor who had defended in person was entitled upon taxation to the same costs as if he had employed a Solicitor except in respect of items which the fact of his acting distinctly rendered unnecessary.

In the present case I shall be governed by this ruling. As stated by the Master of the Rolls in the above cited case "the unsuccessful adversary of a Solicitor appearing in person cannot be charged for the Solicitor consulting himself" and therefore the fee of $8 in item 1 must be struck out.

Items 2 and 16 involve professional skill and labour and could not therefore be properly dealt with by plaintiff otherwise than in his professional capacity. I consider therefore that he is entitled to be paid for the service.

The result is that the bill of costs is reduced by $8. As the taxation is upheld except in one particular the defendant must pay the costs of this review which I fix at $10.

M. J. BERKELEY, J.

THIS 20TH DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

MARTINS,

versus

EXECUTORS M. DE FREITAS, DEC'D.

The plaintiff seeks by this application to obtain a review of the taxation of the defendant's bill of costs. The grounds of objection are (1) that the costs were not taxed according to appendix 1, part 1 (c) of the Rules of Court but under (b); (2), that if correctly taxed the amount allowed for items 2, 4, 10, 16 and 19 are excessive; (3), that item 3 is not a tariff charge; and (4) that items 22 and 24 cannot both be allowed, the practice being to allow one or the other.

The action was brought claiming an account from the defendants as executors of their dealings and intrusions with the estate of Manuel de Freitas, deceased, and payment of whatever was found due and owing to the plaintiff.

Now it is clear from the statement of defence and the plaintiff's reply thereto that the amount sought to be recovered as due and owing was under $250 and this being so I am of opinion that the costs should be taxed on the lower scale. With this direction I refer matter back to the taxing master and fix the costs of this review at $7 to be paid by defendant.

LOCAL STEAMSHIP SERVICES.

The Crown Agents for the Colonies, acting for and on behalf of the Government of the colony of British Guiana, hereby give notice that they are authorised to call for tenders for Local Steamship Contracts for the services particulars whereof are set forth below.

The Tenders must in each case be alternatively for ten, fifteen, or twenty years. And a Tender for all or any of the services will be treated so far as each service included therein is concerned, as a separate tender for such service. The Government does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

No tender will be considered unless the tenderer is a British subject or a British Company, i.e., a company registered and having its principal place of business within His Britannic Majesty's Dominions, and fulfilling the other requirements as set out in clause 49 of the Form of Contract.

Forms of Tender, together with prints of the draft contract (into which mutatis mutandis every tenderer whose tender is accepted will be required to enter) and statements showing the traffic receipts on the several services for the ten years 1899-1908, can be obtained from the Office of the Crown Agents for the Colonies, Whitehall Gardens, London, S.W.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE,
British Guiana,
5th April, 1911.

In the matter of the application by William Henning, of Lahaina, Island of Maui, Hawaii Territory, United States of America, Sugar Boiler, for a patent for his invention for "Process of manufacturing Sugar."

I DO hereby intimate to all to whom it may concern that on the 31st day of March, 1911, I accepted a complete specification of the said invention by the said applicant, the said William Henning, and that any person may, within two months from the date of this advertisement of my acceptance of the said complete specification, give notice in writing at the Registrar's Office afore-said of opposition to the grant of the said patent in terms of section 10 (1) of the Patents Ordinance, 1902.

L. C. DALTON,

SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH GUIANA.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION.

THIS 21ST DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

PHIPPS, Appellant.

versus

LEACH, Respondent.

The respondent as inquirer of the Local Board of Guardians of the East Coast District laid a charge against the appellant that he being the husband of Rebecca Phipps during the month of February, 1911, did without lawful or reasonable excuse neglect to provide reasonable maintenance for her whereby she has become destitute and chargeable to the Local Board of Guardians in the sum of 24 cents contrary to Ord. 19 of 1905.

The Magistrate, after hearing evidence, ordered the appellant to pay 72 cents per week to the Guardians for the maintenance and support of his wife.

The reasons for appeal are (shortly stated) (1), that the decision is erroneous in law, the decision not being in conformity with the law and the several elements of an offence not being proved; (2) that illegal evidence, viz., of ill-treatment by the appellant was admitted, no ill-treatment being alleged in the charge and without that evidence the decision is unsustainable; and (3) the decision is unwarranted by the evidence there being no evidence, inter alia, that R. Phipps was destitute.

The charge as framed does not conform to the provisions of sect. 2 of the Ordinance, and if intended to be laid under section 10, the Magistrate's order is not in conformity with it being not an order for repayment of the relief given but an order for future maintenance. Nor is the respondent's right to bring such a charge shown, sect. 10 authorising the Poor Law Commissioners or a Commissary to bring such complaints. But apart from these elements of invalidity the evidence is in my opinion insufficient to support the decision (cf. Browne v. Grimshaw, 18th January, 1901.)

The decision appealed from is reversed but without costs, in view of all the evidence.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

THIS 22ND DAY OF APRIL, 1911.

KANHOYE, Appellant,

versus

MEDAS, (Sergt.), Respondent.

The appellant is one of three persons convicted on a charge of larceny of two bags of rice.

Of the reasons of appeal served, reason 2 and the first part of reason 1 (c) were abandoned by the appellant's counsel.

The sole reason argued is that the decision is erroneous in law, (a) there being no evidence of larceny, the taking or possession at any time of the two bags of rice or any part thereof by the appellant not being proved; (b) the alleged confession of the defendant not being proved, and even if proved not establishing larceny by the appellant; and (c) there being no evidence that the rice produced in Court was over in the appellant's possession.

The only evidence against the appellant, apart from the alleged confession, is that two bags containing rice similar in kind to rice lost by one Sookdeo and lying under a plantain tree aback of appellant's yard were pointed out to the police by the appellant, who said "two boys,"—the two other defendants—put it there. The bags in which this rice was, appear from Sookdeo's evidence not to have been the bags in which his lost rice was packed, and there is no evidence as to whether the quantity of rice found was the same as that of the rice lost or that the appellant placed the two bags of rice where found. The alleged confession consists of the facts that the appellant who had been cautioned by the police, said nothing when one of the other defendants also under arrest said in his hearing that the appellant had called him and asked him to steal Sookdeo's rice, and that on his saying he could not as he was sick, the appellant got the other defendant's aid, and that the appellant also said nothing when one Cabral made a statement to the police incriminating him. Cabral when on oath before the Magistrate said his previous statement made (as the respondent admits) while under arrest, was not true and the fact that a man cautioned by the police remains silent when others also under arrest make statements incriminating him cannot in my opinion be held to be a tacit admission of the truth of such statements.

There is not, I think, sufficient evidence to reasonably support the conviction of the appellant, and the Magistrate's decision so far as it affects him is therefore reversed and the appeal allowed with costs.

HENRY A. BOVELL, C.J.

QUINTAL, et al, Appellants,

versus

FRANKLIN, (Sgt.), Respondent.

The three appellants were all tried together, the charge against Francis Quintal being that he on the 23rd December, 1910, unlawfully had in his possession three Panama hats reasonably suspected to have been stolen, and the charge against Linda Quintal and Mary Valladares being that they, on the said 23rd December, had in their possession three Panama hats reasonably suspected to have been unlawfully obtained. No objection was raised in the Magistrate's Court or by the reasons of appeal to the two charges being heard together.

The reasons for appeal given by each appellant, are in substance and effect that the decision is erroneous in law and unwarranted by the evidence, there being no proof of possession, or of reasonable suspicion that the hats had been stolen or unlawfully obtained as stated in the several charges. These reasons are, in the case of each appellant, based on various grounds set out at length in the notices served on the respondent.

Three Panama hats, according to the evidence, were, on a search under warrant being made of F. Quintal's house, found therein. He was not present when the search was made, but on being subsequently told by Sgt.-Major Franklin that three Panama hats had been found at his place, he said he bought the three hats from a black man some weeks before for eight shillings. There is no evidence that the hats found were shown him before he made this statement, but he was told the number and kind of the hats found, and in view of the improbability that hats of the same kind and number—but not the identical three to which he referred—would be found in his house that morning, it may, I think, be taken as proved that the hats found were the ones he meant. His possession of the hats found, is, therefore, in my opinion, proved. One of those hats (Exhibit B) is proved by the witness Lee to have been stolen from him. This hat has been examined by me and the marks therein mentioned by this witness can be discerned. The circumstances that F. Quintal on Benn, P.C., telling him at the shop where he was employed that his house was about to be searched, spoke to some one who at once went to the house, and was followed later by another person from the shop, who spoke in Portuguese to Mary Valladares, who at once went into another room and shortly after threw a parcel containing two of the hats out of a window, in my opinion, justified suspicion that the hats had been stolen. I think, therefore, the charge laid against F. Quintal was proved if the Magistrate believed the evidence as no doubt he did.

Linda Quintal and Mary Valladares are, respectively, the wife and mother-in-law of F. Quintal and live in his house. The evidence, as already said, establishes possession of the hats by F. Quintal, the master of the house, and on the evidence possession of them by either of the two other appellants, is not, in my opinion, proved, but at most mere custody or detention for another. The conviction of these two appellants, therefore, cannot be sustained.

The Magistrate's decision is affirmed in respect of F. Quintal and the appeal dismissed with costs, the said decision being reversed in respect of L. Quintal and Mary Valladares and their appeal allowed with costs.

GROSE, Appellant,

versus

HILL (Inspector of Police), Respondent.

This is an appeal from a conviction on a charge that the appellant not being entitled to practise as a barrister or solicitor, and not being a public officer acting in the execution of his duty, prepared a legal document, other than a will, viz., a plaint, for reward.

Of the reasons for appeal, reason 3 was abandoned by the appellant's counsel and reasons 1 and 5 were held insufficient under section 10 of Ord. 13 of 1893, the former in accordance with the decisions Gouveia v. Hotchkis (4th January, 1908), and Wilson v. Boodhoosing (24th July, 1908), and the latter on the ground that the reason why the admission of the evidence mentioned was alleged to be illegal had not been stated. (Lewis v. Wharton, 19th December, 1902.)

The second reason for appeal is that the original Roll of Court showing who are entitled to practise as barristers or solicitors should not have been received in evidence. (Section 47, Ord. 20 of 1893.) No objection to the admission of the original Roll was taken when it was tendered, and on the appellant objecting, after the close of the case for the prosecution, that the original had been wrongly received, the Magistrate, on the respondent's application, made an order for its reception in lieu of a copy being put in. Even if (a point not now decided) the appellant could take the objection after the original had already been admitted, the Magistrate was legally authorised to make the order rendering the original properly receivable in evidence. (Sects. 47 and 90, Ord. 20 of 1893.) This reason for appeal is therefore unavailing.

The substantial reason for appeal is that the appellant was authorised in writing by Mr. Marshall, who is a barrister-at-law, to open an office in New Amsterdam in his name, and that the appellant made out the plaint as clerk to Mr. Marshall, and was therefore not liable to any penalty under sect. 11, Ord. 18 of 1897.

The appellant's evidence before the Magistrate shows that he keeps an account of all moneys received by him for drawing up plaints and other documents and accounts for them to Mr. Marshall, and is paid a commission on all money so received, that Mr. Marshall never sees the documents drawn up unless he is retained or in important matters and has not been to New Amsterdam since June, 1910, and that he did not supervise the drawing up of the said plaint and never saw it.

It is, I think clear that the appellant is not bona fide, and in reality the clerk of Mr. Marshall and acting as such, but is only acting as a duly qualified legal practitioner under colour of Mr. Marshall's name by arrangement with him for the pecuniary benefit of them both, (cf. Abercrombie v. Jordan, 8 Q.B.D., 187). There is no provision in Ord. 18 of 1897, enabling a duly qualified legal practitioner to lend his name to an unqualified person, and thus entitle him to draw up legal documents for reward without any effective supervision or control, and it is obvious that sect. 11 of that Ordinance would be rendered nugatory, if an arrangement like the one exemplified in this case exempted an unqualified person from all liability under that section. There is, therefore no ground shown for holding that the wide and comprehensive words of that section were not intended by the Legislature to cover a case like the present, which is within its terms and productive of the evil against which that section is aimed.

The appeal is dismissed with costs.

The Court regrets that any legal practitioner should enter into such an arrangement as is disclosed in this case and thus help an unqualified person to act as if legally qualified, the giving such aid being unprofessional, improper and in view of the provision of sect. 11 of the Ordinance indefensible.
